CNR Will Not Construct Addition to Mac Hotel

Extension Plans Definitely Off

The Canadian National Railways will not build an addition to the Macdonald Hotel here at present.

This positive statement from Walter S. Thompson, Montreal, adviser to R. C. Vaughan, CNR president, conflicts with the repeated announcements of Mayor Harry D. Ainlay that the hotel extension was practically assured.

For several months now Edmonton has been looking forward to a proposed 150-300-room extension to the CNR hotel here. Negotiations, according to the mayor, have been carried on between the City of Edmonton and the railway company for many months.

However, The Edmonton Bulletin learned from railway officials today that Mayor Ainlay's roseate hopes have not been fortified in fact and that present financial burdens will not enable the company to proceed with any extension.

POLICY OF ECONOMY

From Montreal today came reports that the CNR is now observing a policy of rigid economy "in an effort to break even on operations alone."

Walter S. Thompson, public relations chief and adviser to the president, said "additional capital expenditures would aid materially to fixed charges of $40,000,000 and could only be undertaken if compensating advantages ensured improvement in our sources of income, to fully offset expenses involved."

Answering questions from The Bulletin, the official said, "I understand from recent discussions with the president that negotiations would indicate an expenditure of approximately $3,000,000 would be necessary to add 200 rooms to the Hotel (Macdonald) under present construction costs, plus purchase of property."

"This expenditure," he continued, "and probable company earnings must be considered in the light of present financial position of the railway, which has been seriously affected by heavy charges to our

Mayor Ainlay's Strange Game

The Canadian National Railway does not propose to build an addition to the Macdonald Hotel in the near future. And Mayor Ainlay's alarums and excursions about this addition appear to be merely a political gesture designed to butter up the people of Edmonton.

This information about the hotel extension comes to The Edmonton Bulletin in a telegram from Walter S. Thompson, chief public relations officer for the railway and adviser to the president.

Mr. Thompson wires:

"I understand from recent discussion with the president that negotiations indicate an expenditure of approximately three million dollars would be necessary to add two hundred rooms to hotel . . . A policy of rigid economy is being observed in an effort to break even on operations . . . Outlook for . . . extension to Macdonald Hotel under present circumstances not encouraging."

This is authoritative. It is definite. And it is discouraging.

It is discouraging because Mayor Ainlay has twice led the people of this city, desperately anxious for increased hotel accommodations, to believe that a straightforward arrangement with the CNR was just around the corner.

Now it is clear and obvious that the CNR has no immediate intention of building this addition and never had any intention of an early start on such a project.

What kind of a game, then, has Mayor Ainlay been playing with the hopes and needs of Edmonton people?

What has happened to the mammoth hotel over the location of which there was a battle a few months ago? There was to be an immediate start on that one, too. But nothing has been done.

What has happened to negotiations with the Ford hotel people?

The whole game seems to be to keep Edmonton people placated with wild promises and Pollyanna announcements that have no basis in fact.

Meanwhile Edmonton is losing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of tourist business because there is no place to lodge the visitors.

The job of securing proper hotel accommodation for this city appears to be in highly unreliable hands.

Crash May Have Killed Woman, Son

Wreckage of Light Stinson Aircraft Located in North

Fear that a woman and her 12-year-old son may have died in the wreckage of a light Stinson plane, which was located north of Fort Nelson today, was expressed in RCAF reports.

Commanding officer of the RCAF station at Fort Nelson, Sqdn. Ldr. M. S. Strange, told The Bulletin at noon today that he had flown over the wreckage shortly after the ground party reached there and said they "were taking somebody out in a stretcher."

He added, however, that he would have no word on the condition of the persons in the plane until the ground party returned to Fort Nelson.

He did not know whether both persons had been found at the scene of the wreckage or not.

The aircraft, which had been missing since Monday night on a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, was sighted by two RCAF Dakotas less than an hour and a half after a search was launched. But crew members reported that there was no sign of life around the plane.

PLANE ON ITS BACK

The aircraft was located on its back in dead bush about 45 miles north of Fort Nelson. It was only a few hundred yards from the Alaska Highway, an RCAF report said.

The woman pilot was identified as Mrs. A. L. Linter, wife of a U.S. Army reserve lieutenent-colonel.

Husband of the woman is en route to Edmonton today and was expected to reach here early this evening.

SEARCH DELAYED

The plane left Anchorage, Alaska on Monday and was due to arrive at Fort Nelson at 6:36 p.m. the same day. It was reported missing immediately, but a heavy snowstorm stopped the RCAF from starting a search.

Mrs. Lintner reached Watson Lake, Yukon Territories, Monday afternoon and refueled. The aircraft was reported twice before it vanished in the Fort Nelson area.

It was believed forced down by a heavy snowstorm.

Yanks Win On Bauer's Homer

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29. —(AP)—Rookie Hank Bauer poled a three-run homer in the sixth inning today to pace New York Yankees to a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia A's. The triumph enabled the Yanks to keep their flickering American League pennant hopes alive.

The win moved the Yanks within 1½ games of the league-leading Cleveland Indians, who faced Chicago White Sox today. The Yanks now have only three games left.

Haircut Price Is Going Up

Higher prices for haircuts and shaves in Edmonton were forecast today by Walter Farrell, secretary of the Barbers' Association of Edmonton.

Commenting on a Calgary report of higher barbering prices in the southern city, Mr. Farrell said the MBA planned an Oct. meeting, and it was "likely" the 100 members would vote for similar increases.

Calgary barbers propose a 10-cent boost for men's and children's haircuts and a 15-cent raise for the price of a shave.

Present haircut prices in Edmonton are 65 cents for men and 40 cents for children. A shave costs 35 cents.

Friendship Train Members See Vast Land Clearance

By HARLO JONES
(Bulletin Staff Reporter)

ABOARD THE FRIENDSHIP TRAIN, RYCROFT, Sept. 29.—The "opening" of the Peace River country is progressing at a clearly visible rate in the Wanham-Rycroft-Spirit River district.

Edmonton Chamber of Commerce members split into three groups Tuesday to visit projects in the neighborhood of all three towns.

In the Yanham area, the opening of new land is being accomplished, not in acres or quarter-sections, but in thousands of acres.

Giant bulldozers, tractors and machines like big plows are ripping brush from nearly 150,000 acres of land for a 40-mile stretch between the Smoky and Peace Rivers.

O. B. Lassiter, head of a clearing outfit which has contracted for the greater part of the work, 100,000 acres, detailed the general procedure. Three other contractors are scheduled to clear 15,000 acres each, he said.

When brush is cleared from the land, he said, it is piled and burned, then re-piled by bulldozers and burned again. One crew of men,

Russ Seen as Threat To Peace of World

By R. H. Shackford

PARIS, Sept. 29.—(BUP)—The United States, Britain and France formally accused Russia today of creating a "threat to peace" in Berlin, and appealed to the United Nations Security Council to consider the crisis "at the earliest opportunity."

Formal complaints of the three western powers, lodging the Berlin crisis and the charges against Russia in the UN, were delivered to Secretary General Trygve Lie at 4 p.m. (8 a.m., Edmonton time).

Simultaneously the three governments released the texts of their identical letters containing the charges against their wartime ally, the most serious charge ever filed against a UN member.

The western powers called the attention of Lie to the Soviet blockade of Berlin, and charged that it violated the rights of the Big Three Then they added:

THREAT TO PEACE

"This action by the Soviet government is contrary to its obligations under Article II of the Charter of the United Nations, and creates a threat to peace within the meaning of Chapter VII of the charter."

The complaints went into no details. They made no suggestions on how the security council should deal with the case, nor any suggestions on how to end the crisis.

The Big Three merely cited the "unilateral imposition" by Russia of the blockade on Berlin, describing it as a "serious situation."

Such action by the Soviet government, the western powers said, violated its obligations under Article II, which pledges all nations to settle their disputes by peaceful means.

Chapter VII, cited as the basis

Actor Denies Dope Charge

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Robert Mitchum and two of his co-defendants pleaded innocent today to narcotics charges after his counsel failed in an attempt to have the indictment dismissed on a legal technicality.

Jerry Giesler, noted criminal lawyer representing Mitchum, asked dismissal with the argument that a portion of the indictment is not in the English language and is therefore unconstitutional.

He referred to the section which charged the defendants with possession and conspiracy to possess "flowering tops and leaves of Indian hemp (Cannabis Sativa)."

Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose overruled the demurrer and ordered the defendants to plead. All four are at liberty on $10,000 bail each.

Mitchum, 31, Actress Lila Leeds, 20, dancer Vicki Evans, 25, and Robin Ford, 31, real estate man, are charged with possessing a drug weed popularly known as marijuana.

Nine Soviet Fighters Dive on Supply Planes

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Nine Soviet fighter planes dangerously buzzed two American supply planes in a Soviet-zone air corridor today, United States authorities announced.

The planes were flying supplies into Soviet-blockaded Berlin from the western zones.

United States officials said they were transmitting a written protest to the Russians, charging violation of air safety regulations and demanding remedial action.

PILOTS TELL STORY

Capt. Vincent H. Gookin, United States representative at the four-power Berlin air safety centre, filed the protest. He said it was based upon accounts by the pilots of two C-54 Skymasters.

The pilots reported they were buzzed (dived upon) by Soviet Yaks as they were carrying cargoes to Berlin through the Hamburg-Berlin corridor. They were in-bound from Fassburg, coal base for the air lift.

One pilot said his ship was buzzed by five Yaks and the other by four.

Gookin said the pilots asserted the Yaks dived down at the supply transports and around them, coming within 100 feet.

LATEST INCIDENTS

These were the latest of several recent Soviet-perpetrated incidents in the corridors which the Americans asserted violated four-power flying regulations and were designed to harass the blockade-busting air lift to Berlin.

Last week a Soviet fighter flew dangerously close to an American passenger transport. During the last week also the United States protested a Soviet announcement of close formation flying by Russian aircraft, which violates air-corridor rules, and a Soviet announcement of anti-aircraft firing practice in the corridors to a height of 10,000 feet.

Gov't Will Provide Land for Power Site

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Mines Minister MacKinnon said today legislation will be introduced at the next session of parliament to turn over to Alberta 10 or 12 square miles of National Park lands needed for a power project on the Spray Lakes near Canmore.

He said that would complete the federal government's connection with the project. The legislation was made necessary when it was found that lands originally set aside were not large enough.

Mr. MacKinnon said he had received assurance from Alberta provincial engineers that the minimum flow of the Spray river at its junction with the Bow just below the CPR hotel at Banff would be maintained at 200 cubic feet a second. This would prevent the river from being injured as a tourist attraction.

FORMALLY CLEAR WAY

The federal legislation would formally clear the way for the province and Calgary Power Ltd. to arrange for construction. However, the Calgary firm who believed going ahead in anticipation of its passage.

The Spray Lakes project has been under consideration by Calgary Power Ltd. since 1923, when the estimated cost was $5,000,000. Since then construction costs have doubled.

When completed the Spray Lakes project will produce about 100,000 horse power of electric energy and double the hydro output of the company. It is anticipated that after work has started it will take about three years or more to complete the project.

—LANT NEAR CAMROSE

Under the plans which have changed but little since the scheme was first mooted in 1923, the water impounded by the Spray Lakes dam would be carried through tunnels and flumes a distance of more than five miles to a hydro plant on the banks of the Bow river near Canmore.

The addition of this water to the flow of the Bow river is expected to reduce the fluctuating flow from the Ghost reservoir and hydro plant and help to control winter flood conditions in the Calgary district.

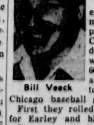
GIFTS SHOWER ON "AVERAGE FAN"

'Good Old Joe Earley' Really Has His Night

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Joe Earley, the "average fan" who thought he ought to get a "night" like the ball players, had his wish filled last night.

Several weeks ago, the 26-year-old baseball fan wrote a letter to a local newspaper suggesting "for good old Joe Earley a night to end all nights."



Bill Veeck

The idea clicked with wisecrack man Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians. The show went on before 60,405 fans as an added attraction to the Cleveland-Chicago baseball game.

First they rolled out a new car for Earley and his bride.

Then a truck drove up containing an assortment of gifts. Veeck began to read off the list—a console model radio phonograph, a year's supply of gasoline and oil, an electric refrigerator, a portable radio ,a washing machine, clothes, luggage, books and on and on.

The financial contributions, which weren't immediately tabulated, included $1,000 from the ball club. As Joe wished, these will go to the Cleveland Indians.

Veeck also added a few sideshows. The first 20,000 women to arrive received an orchid, sent by plane from Honolulu at a reported cost of $30,000. Pretty models handed them out at the gates.

Another gag brought a swarm of poultry and livestock to the infield, and ticket holders were called down to receive them. One amazed fan had a sway-backed horse turned over to him.

Good Old Joe Early . . . A wish fulfilled.

Joe, an automobile plant guard who said he had been in a "whirlwind" ever since he wrote the letter, finally staggered up to a microphone and said his breathless "Thanks."

Ontario Premier Appears Headed for Party Leadership

By Dick Jackson
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Delegates by this morning were beginning to crowd convention reservation lists in the Ottawa hotels, and from their talk in the lobbies and conferences in rooms, seemed to favor by a two-to-one division Ontario Premier George Drew as the Progressive Conservative leader.

From the prairies, where supporters of John Diefenbaker, MP for Lake Centre, have claimed strength, Douglas Harkness, MP for Calgary East, reported the west "pretty well solid" for the Ontario premier.

95 PCT. FOR DREW

"Southern Alberta delegates are 95 per cent for Premier Drew," he said, "and I believe Ray Milner, KC, of Edmonton, says the same holds good for the northern part of the province."

On the west coast Vancouver Island delegates with General George Pearkes, MP for Nanaimo, taking the lead, were for Mr. Diefenbaker, but delegates from the mainland were supporting Premier Drew.

General Pearkes said he was pushing Mr. Diefenbaker's name into nominations for the leadership, "and doing everything I can to help him on Vancouver Island."

On the mainland, B.C. delegates reported Cecil Merritt, KC, MP for Vancouver-Burrard, working equally hard for Premier Drew.

SASK. FOR DIEFENBAKER

Delegates from Saskatoon were the early arrivals from Saskatchewan and they reported the province would go to Mr. Diefenbaker, although Premier Drew would poll a good vote."

From Manitoba, Arthur Ross, MP for Souris, was pushing the leadership of Premier Drew, even Mr. Diefenbaker's Saskatchewan supporters admitting it to be so.

In Ontario, according to H. O. White, MP for Middlesex East, delegates from the western section of the province were "strong" for Premier Drew, with Park Monross, MP for London, and Joseph Murphy of Sarnia, MP for Lambton West, pushing the drive for votes.

In central Ontario, the Drew-for-leader campaign was spear-headed by Earl Rowe, MP for Dufferin-Simcoe.

In eastern Ontario, Russell Boucher, MP for Carleton, stood firmly by his forecast of 50 out of 60 votes for Premier Drew.

SABOURIN BACKS DREW

Few Quebec delegates had checked into the convention hotels last night but Ivan Sabourin, national vice-president of the Progressive Conservatives, was hurrying about his Drew-for-leader business.

In New Brunswick, Premier Drew had the support of Hugh Mackay, provincial party leader, and King Hazen, MP for Johnson-Kent.

Prince Edward Island delegates who were to arrive in force tomorrow, were reported by one of their number reaching Ottawa early to be "in the Drew camp".

Roy Heiman, of Charlottetown, one of the party's national vice-presidents, who would be seconding Mr. Diefenbaker's nomination, was 'claimed by the early-arriving Prince Edward Island delegate to be "about the only one" from that province not supporting Premier Drew.

Mr. Diefenbaker yesterday held his second press conference in 10 days to urge that Canada assume a share in the allied air lift to Berlin.

"Canada has been talking tough and should now act tough," he said.

BLAMES KING

He urged the reconvening of the Dominion - Provincial Conference and blamed its failure three years ago on Prime Minister King and the cabinet's "club-swinging" attitude.

He went so far as to say that the convention's formula of appointing some 311 delegates-at-large could be improved upon, to bring the choice of a party leader "closer to the people."

Donald Fleming, MP for Toronto-Eglinton, third aspirant for the leadership, held a combined cocktail and press conference in his Chateau Laurier campaign headquarters.

An abstainer both from tobacco and liquor, he nursed a glass of ginger ale while answering questions, adding little to what he already had gone on record with at his press conference last week when campaigned in homespun fashion.

"I am a modest man," he told reporters, "but I want to say I'll win the leadership on the first ballot."

accounts, resulting from recent wage awards and continuing increases in the cost of and materials and supplies needed for efficient operation of the property."

In conclusion, Mr. Thompson said: "Being one of the highest taxpayers and largest employers of labor in Edmonton, the management appreciates fully the importance of new (hotel) facilities but the outlook . . . is not encouraging."

Latest negotiations between the City of Edmonton and the CNR opened last August when the matter of land purchase came up.

At that time the City suggested through Mayor Ainlay that the CNR purchase two lots of land adjoining Thornton court, near the present hotel. The two lots proposed now house the British and Foreign Bible Society and the Mandarin Gardens.

The City, at the same time, indicated its willingness to contribute the land it now holds in the area for hotel building and gardens, according to Mayor Ainlay.

The mayor who is travelling in northern Alberta with the Chamber of Commerce Friendship train, was not available today for comment on the CNR decision.

NEW BARRIER ARISES

Thus, it appears, the 20-year old struggle by Edmonton interests to secure adequate accommodation, has run against another barrier.

Development of a new $6,000,000 hotel, which question raised considerable issue in the city last summer, has shown no progress recently.

Slated to be built near the Civic Block, on the land originally set aside as a civic centre, the new hotel, which is planned to house more than 500 rooms, is still in the planning stage.

Representatives of the Montreal interests who propose building the structure are expected in Edmonton shortly to discuss the matter further with civic officials.

Meanwhile, work has been released as to when actual construction of the hotel will get underway.

They were given four years consecutive and four years concurrent for the $53 armed robbery of Nathan Bornstein, a Toronto taxi driver who was taken to a dark section of the city Sept. 10 and forced to hand over his wallet.

Decker and Glover each were sentenced to one year to run concurrent for two charges of automobile theft.

Huge Areas Are Open For Farming

said Mr. Lassiter, is able to burn off three sections of land a day.

Following the burning, a machine resembling an "overgrown disc plow" is put on the land to break it and to cut up roots. Later, the land is "levelled" several times by tractors towing huge logs and chains which fill in root holes, irregularities, and level it.

TOWNS GOING AHEAD

Hand in hand with the opening of vast quantities of farm land are plans by the individual towns to make improvements and modernize themselves.

Typical of the spirit of the country is the town of Rycroft, in which a section of the Chamber of Commerce was entertained at a dinner meeting, a tour of Spirit River and of its nearby oil drilling rig.

Major improvement for the town of Rycroft is a dam, just completed, which will supply the town with water. It was designed by Dr. Hardy of the University of Alberta, and is of earth and plank construction. The dam is unique because it is "hollow", the plank section backing up the earth forming a three-step spillway which is supported by heavy timbers from within.

It is estimated the dam will back up 25,000,000 gallons of water—sufficient to supply a town of 1,000 for at least two years, and will cost $40,000. Constructed across the Spirit river, the dam is approximately 50 yards long and will hold enough water to give a depth of 10 feet at a distance of one mile from the dam.

At Spirit River, the group was shown the Imperial Oil drilling rig on the western slope of Holden Hill. The rig is said to be the largest in Western Canada, and has already gone to a depth of more than 3,000 feet.

ROAD NEEDS CITED

Again, the Boards of Trade of the three centres, as did organizations in other towns, which the Friendship Train has visited, pointed out the vital necessity for roads into their territory from Edmonton.

Dr. Merone Wanuck, president of the Rycroft Board of Trade, addressing a dinner meeting in Rycroft, explained the Rycroft type of thinking which resulted in construction of the dam.

"If a town is to prosper and to thrive," he said, "it is essential that it must have water." He compared the water supply of a town to the "circulatory system of the human body."

Of the road problem in the Peace River area, he said, "we in Rycroft and Spirit River are mainly interested in the Mackenzie-Dawson Creek route. The road passes through Donnelly, Falher, Watino, Eaglesham, Wanham, Rycroft, Spirit River, Grandview and Dawson Creek, B.C.

"If we can get this road gravelled," he declared, "it will serve us, as well as the Peace River country as a whole."

Speaking highways," Dr. Wornuck declared, "should be brought up to all-weather standard before any new construction work is undertaken."

CAUTION IS ISSUED

F. G. Winspear, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, advised the Rycroft board to think of the development of the north as being similar to modern business. He cautioned them against seeking road construction which is designed to aid one community at the expense of another. The situation, said Mr. Winspear, is akin to business where free competition is the order of the day, but where competitive businesses concede the right of one another to exist.

Later in the evening, a general meeting was held in the Rycroft community hall at which visitors to the Wanham project and Spirit River were re-united with the main party.

In Grande Prairie, the members of the group will spend the entire day. Hunting and golfing are planned. While there, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will be guests of the Grande Prairie, Debolt and Sexsmith Boards of Trade.

Cabinet Will Tackle Freight Rate Problem

By John Leblanc

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Freight rates will remain a top consideration of the cabinet until it has disposed of the appeal of seven provinces from last spring's 21-per-cent rate increase, Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday as the government ended hearings on the appeal.

After the cabinet had heard a two-day argument from the provinces and the railways, Mr. St. Laurent declared it will tackle the $70,000,000-a-year issue immediately. The ministers will take up the matter at a cabinet meeting today.

"We intend to reach a decision on the question as expeditiously as possible, having regard to the interest for due consideration," the acting prime minister said.

TWO-DAY HEARINGS

Decision of the cabinet—sitting as a privy council appeal court—to defer a verdict came after two days of hearings in which it heard the case for and against the rate increase granted by the board of transport commissioners last March.

It was not dealing with a later application of the railways for a new 20-per-cent rate increase. That is still before the board.

The provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—asked the cabinet either to disallow the increase altogether, throw it back to the board for re-examination or so revise the board finding that an increase of less than two per cent would result.

The question was argued out before virtually a full representation of cabinet. Four provincial premiers—those of the Maritimes and Manitoba—were present.

TCA Man Gets McKee Trophy

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—(CP)—The McKee Trans-Canada trophy for outstanding contribution to aviation advancement in 1947 will be presented at Winnipeg Saturday to Capt. B. A. Rawson of Fort William, director of flight development of Trans-Canada Air Lines, it was announced today.

Air Vice-Marshal K. M. Guthrie, air officer commanding North-west Air command, will present the trophy on behalf of Defence Minister Claxton.

The trophy has been awarded annually since 1927 for meritorious service in the advancement of aviation in Canada. The award to Capt. Rawson marked the first time it has gone to a member of TCA.

It was originally donated by the late Dalzell McKee of Pittsburg, Pa., a wealthy aviation enthusiast who made the first Trans-Canada flight by seaplane in 1926, accompanied by Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, then a squadron leader.

One of the key men in the development of TCA, Capt. Rawson, has been associated with flying for 22 years. He obtained his first pilot licence in the United States.

Justice Dept. Balks Trials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The justice department told the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee today that it will not "institute prosecutions to justify publicity seekers."

The committee, in a preliminary report of its atomic espionage investigations, had demanded Monday that the justice department undertake immediately the prosecution of four persons accused of tampering with atomic secrets.

In a statement, the department accused the committee of indulging in "political gymnastics."

It said the committee's report, together with excerpts of testimony by some witnesses, does not offer evidence necessary to prosecute.

The committee, headed by J. Parnell Thomas (Rep., N.J.), had said three of the four persons should be prosecuted on charges of conspiring to hand over atomic secrets to Soviet agents.

The committee said two of them were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

UN Told Russ Threat To Peace

for the charge of a Soviet threat to peace, allows the security council, barring a veto, to order diplomatic, commercial, economic, political and military sanctions against a guilty nation.

Most of the text of the complaints was devoted to a recital of two long paragraphs of the three power note to the Russians last Sunday. Those excerpts pointed out again to the UN:

"The issue is that the Soviet government has clearly shown by its actions that it is attempting by illegal and coercive measures in disregard of its obligations to secure political objectives to which it is not entitled and which it could not achieve by peaceful means.

BLOCKADE MEASURES

"It has resorted to blockade measures; it has threatened the Berlin population with starvation and economic ruin; it has tolera'ed disorders and attempted to over throw the duly elected municipal government of Berlin.

"The attitude and conduct of the Soviet government reveal sharply its purpose to continue its illegal and coercive blockade and its unlawful actions designed to reduce the status of the United States, the United Kingdom and France as occupying powers in Berlin to one of complete subordination to Soviet rule and thus obtain absolute authority over the economic, political and social life of the people of Berlin, and to incorporate the city in the Soviet zone."

The complaint then placed "sole responsibility" for creating the crisis upon the Soviet government and declared the crisis a "threat to international peace and security."

The delivery of the big three letters to the UN was a dramatic event. Every move was recorded by press photographers and officials of the UN. Everywhere the feeling was that 4 p.m Paris time, Sept. 29, 1948, was destined to be a big moment in history.

'Gar the Great' Case Names Self PC Chief

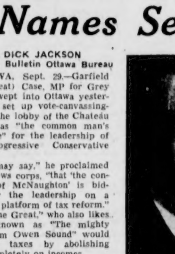
By DICK JACKSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Garfield (The Great) Case, MP for Grey North, swept into Ottawa yesterday and set up vote-canvassing shop in the lobby of the Chateau Laurier as "the common man's candidate" for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

"You may say," he proclaimed to the news corps, "that the conservative spirit of Nonghton' is bidding for the leadership on a sure-fire platform of tax reform."

"Gar the Great," who also likes to be known as "The mighty Mite from Owen Sound" would circulate by publishing them completely on incomes.

"I would reduce income taxes by eliminating them altogether." he announced as curious bystanders crowded around him in the lobby. "At the very worst I would compromise by raising exemptions from the current chiselling levels to $5,000 for single men and $10,000 for those married."



GARFIELD CASE
. . . Sure-fire Platform.

He recalled that as "the common man's candidate" he had badly beaten former defence minister Ian Mackenzie in Grey North three years ago, and as that same "common man's candidate" planned taking the convention "on the first ballot."

"Like Diefenbaker, I've got the west. Like Drew I have Ontario, Like Fleming I have he has, I have Quebec," he reported. "So how can I lose?"

After tax "reform", a sweeping "purge" of the bureaucrats from the government staff, was on the Case program.

"When I take over," he promised, "I will stage what will go down in history as the-march-from-Ottawa. In the parade away from the public payroll, and on their way out of the capital will be the Liberal brain-trusters: Governor Towers of the Bank of Canada and his deputy, Donald Gordon; Louis Rasminsky of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and Finance Deputy Clifford Clark."

Hip boots would be needed on Wellington Street, he forecast, since "bureaucratic blood will be running that deep."

Heads would roll, he promised. "You'll be knee-deep in 'em."

IT'S HARD for an employe to greet a customer with a friendly smile after being "growled at" by the boss, Charles S. Watson, Canadian public relations "scientist" declares. Appeal for Truth Made by Publicist

Canadian business must tell the true story of profits to the general public in order to defeat Communism, Charles S. Watson, public relations chief for Canadian Breweries Ltd. said here today.

Addressing the Advertising and Sales Bureau of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon in the Corona, the Toronto public relations expert declared:

"... there is greater need today for genuine, lasting and intelligent public relations than at any other moment since Jacques Cartier first smoked the pipe of peace with the Hurons and the Iroquois at the mouth of the St. Lawrence more than 400 years ago."

Public relations can do, in the field of national and international affairs, just as impressive a selling job as it does in the world of business, the speaker said.

NOT INFORMED

The average Canadian thinks the average profit of business is more than 20 per cent because of not been factually informed. Actually composite corporate net profits of all Canadian business last year was less than four per cent, he said.

The speaker said that if only business men would just tell their own employes, in simple language, they understood the truth about profits, the disciples of socialism would soon be very rare.

Mr. Watson made a strong plea for religious and racial understanding in Canada the "sort of tolerance, amity and unity that has given North Americans a standard of living unknown and undreamed of by those who would impose their political system on us."

TIME TO STOP

Referring directly to the struggle between communism and free enterprise, the speaker said:

"Let us stop pussyfooting and ducking the issue. Let us for one thing stop talking about leftists, radicals, reactionaries and subversive elements and begin smoking them out in their true colors . . . communists and political gangsters.

No matter how strong Canada's imperialistic ties, Canadians must realize that "sheer, stark realism dictates that our future glory lies in North American solidarity—in friendship and unity of thought and purpose between the peoples of this continent."

This continent was the cradle of democracy, the birthplace, the breeding ground, and the proving ground of a new and hitherto undreamed-of standard of life for all the people, from the highest to the humblest, he concluded, declaring that: "If democracy dies here the greatest implement for universal friendship and peace on earth perishes."

Three Injured In Traffic Accidents

One seven-year-old girl suffered a fractured collarbone, and three others suffered sprains and bruises in three traffic accidents in Edmonton, Tuesday.

Injured were:

The Gruidl girl was struck and knocked down by an auto when she ran out from behind a truck, parked on 118 avenue.

Driver of the auto, George A. Mohr of Fort Saskatchewan, told police that the truck was parked on the wrong side of the road and the girl ran into the side of his car from behind it.

Two witnesses corroborated his story.

TO HOSPITAL

The girl was taken to Royal Alexandra Hospital where she was admitted for examination and treatment.

A parked car figured in another accident in front of 8601 118 avenue when a cyclist collided with one of the doors as it was being opened by the driver.

Lionel Ross, 13, was thrown to the pavement and suffered a possible fractured wrist as a result of the mishap.

Bell and Webb were shaken up and bruised in a head-on collision between their autos at the intersection of 107 avenue and 116 street.

THIRD CAR

Both drivers stated a third car, which fled, swerved to miss when it turned off the intersection without making a signal, was responsible for the accident.

The third car has not been located.

Considerable damage was done to the front of each car.

Webb is being held in Royal Alexandra Hospital for observation.

No charges have been laid in any of the accidents, pending further investigation.

Health Committee Approves Hospital

First Report of Survey Released by Cross

First report of Alberta's health survey committee, released today by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, indicates the committee already has given its approval to one hospital construction project in its brief existence.

The committee has approved the application from the Calgary General hospital for assistance in constructing an addition to that institution. Total amount of assistance recommended is $884,000.

The committee was set up only on Sept. 1, this year, and now has under consideration assistance to fifteen hospitals now being constructed and, fourteen others contemplating building.

The assistance is calculated on the basis of $1,000 apiece from the federal and provincial governments for each active treatment bed, and $1,500 from each for chronic or convalescent beds.

RETROACTIVE GRANT

Grants for hospital construction now under way is retroactive to April 1 and includes only that part of the work done since that date.

Expenditures must be approved by by the provincial and federal cabinets.

The federal grants also include provision for assistance to doctors and nurses for professional training.

The Alberta committee has recommended six Albertans for the aid.

TWO RECOMMENDED

Dr. H. Siemens, former medical officer for the Edmonton Rural Health Unit and Dr. D. Henderson, former medical officer for Holden Health, have been recommended for additional training in public health, Dr. Siemens at Johns Hopkins University in the United States and Dr. Henderson at the University of Toronto.

Miss M. Fitzsimmons and Miss M. K. Anderson have been recommended for assistance in public health nursing courses at Toronto and Edmonton, respectively.

Miss L. Edwards and Miss Evelyn Wilson, both recent nursing graduates, have been recommended for assistance in public health nursing at University of Alberta.

Tanner To Speak

Hon. N. E. Tanner, Alberta minister of lands and mines, will address a meeting of the Edmonton Property Owners association on Friday at 8 p.m., downstairs in the Public Library Building.

Scout Officers Back From North Tour

Executive officers of the Alberta Boy Scouts and Girl Guide organizations are back in Edmonton today after a 3,000-mile aerial tour of Alberta's north country.

Harry Holloway and Beth Riddoch, who visited encampments at Yellowknife, Yuk Yuk, Fort Simpson, and Aklavik, returned from their 15-day jaunt.

In Aklavik they reported 100 Eskimo and Indian children belong to the group.

With the introduction of handicraft in the residential school which the children must attend for five years, the organization feels that it enables the children to retain their native skills on their return to the bush.

"Everywhere we visited, people were keenly interested in our program and willing to co-operate in every way with us," the officials stated.

Executive Commissioner Holloway stressed that the need is urgent for people to take an active interest in equipping the boys and girls with uniforms and equipment.

Three Polio Cases Reported

Two cases of polio were reported to provincial health authorities today from Lamont, and a third from Sangudo.

The two Lamont cases were of a boy of five years and a girl of 14. No age was given from the Sangudo case, which effects a boy.

The provincial total is now 283.

Mines Able To Replace Barge Losses

Loss of vital mining and milling supplies, destroyed when three barges were lost on Great Slave Lake last Saturday, will not likely affect industries in Yellowknife.

F. W. Broderick, managing director of Northern Transportation Company, Ltd., operators of the barges, said today that everything was a complete loss, but businessmen in the area felt that there was still enough time before freeze-up to bring needed supplies for the winter.

Mr. Broderick returned Tuesday night from a hurried trip to Yellowknife to investigate the cause of the accident, which is still undetermined.

He said the damage would run to about $500,000.

The three barges were lost when one, heavily loaded with dynamite, caught fire and exploded, a second caught fire, and a third sank when it went adrift.

The barges were enroute to Yellowknife from Fort Smith. The Northern Transportation manager said there was little hope of salvaging supplies and equipment from the third barge. Depth of the water where it went down is about 300 feet.

House Lots Are Available

Building sites for 1,500 new homes are being made available for Edmonton builders next year, City Commissioner D. B. Menzies said Wednesday morning.

The city, Commissioner Menzie said, has already drawn plans for more than 1,000 lots, and further extensions are in prospect.

The lots to be made available are in sufficiently large blocks to meet the needs of builders operating under integrated or other housing schemes.

Sewer and water service to the lots in question will be installed by the end of 1949, the City Commissioner stated.

The lots will be located in the following sub-divisions of the city: Hudson's Bay Reserve, Westgrove, King Edward Park, Bow Park, Mar Jon Estate and Bonnie Doon.

At a meeting Tuesday the Edmonton House Builders Association stated that they would need 1,000 lots for their operations under the integrated housing scheme during 1949.

Government Ready To Make Report

Government of Alberta will make submissions to the Board of Transport Commissioners at its sessions to be held in Edmonton in mid-November.

Premier Ernest Manning said today the government intended to make its protest, along with the government of British Columbia, on the "injustices" of freight rates mountain differential.

The federal cabinet announced recently it would today consider protests of seven provinces against the 21 per cent freight rate increase approved by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

REFUTES STATEMENT

Minister Sees Teacher Shortage 'About Licked'

Teacher shortage problem in Alberta high schools has been "just about licked," Hon. Ivan Casey said today in comment on a speech by Eric C. Ansley, general secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association, at a convention on Tuesday.

Mr. Ansley was quoted as saying the teacher shortage was "critical with no promise of an improvement for years to come."

Mr. Casey said today only four high school rooms were teacherless this year as compared to 13 at the same time a year ago.

There was still a shortage of 351 teachers in elementary and intermediate schools, the minister said, but there were 587 teacherless rooms a year ago.

Decrease in the number of correspondence centres under the guidance of "supervisors" was one result of the increase in teacher strength, Mr. Casey said. A year ago there were 465 such centres in the province, while reports so far this year show 437.

The minister said he thought fewer teachers were leaving the profession this year. He attributes this to the teacher's pension plan, given approval at the 1948 session of the Alberta legislature.

"Merely a Matter of Money"

Teachers of Northern Alberta, meeting in convention in Edmonton, are told that the acute teacher shortage in this province will not be relieved for a number of years. The cause of this shortage is "merely a matter of money."

Until the public and taxpayers generally get that fact firmly fixed in their heads, the school situation in Alberta and elsewhere cannot possibly improve.

Children will get exactly the kind of education their parents pay for.

Plain common sense makes it clear that high school boys and girls, casting about for a chosen profession, will not respond enthusiastically to the appeal of a calling that offers a lower financial reward than that accorded to plasterers, carpenters, bricklayers, garage mechanics and longshoremen.

No matter how dignified and important the teaching profession may be, ambitious young men and women will not condemn themselves to a hand-to-mouth existence, particularly in these times of economic uncertainty.

It is most unjust to ask these young men and women to make this sacrifice until the taxpayer himself is willing to make greater financial sacrifices for the support of education.

This impasse in the training of new teachers can be almost disastrous in effect.

For elementary education is the keystone of the democratic system. And the teacher is the backbone of society.

Democracy depends upon popular enlightenment. Democratic government can never rise higher than the intelligence of voters.

It is a devastating thought that education, upon which the welfare of the state depends, must eventually fall into the hands, if further funds for education are not forthcoming, of misfits who drift into teaching because they have been failures at everything else.

Many Reputable Taxi Drivers

The conviction of three Edmonton taxi drivers on a charge of illicitly selling liquor will not impel fair-minded people to the preposterous belief that every man who drives a cab lives on the fringe of the underworld.

Thus the police magistrate who registered the conviction should have been slightly more careful in his choice of words when one defendant pleaded that he did not know what he was doing.

"Don't tell me any story like that. You know all about such things. You're in the taxi business."

This stricture may have applied to the particular defendant he was addressing. But he was totally unjustified in phrasing his remarks in a manner that might imply that all taxi drivers were engaged in illegal activities and that taxi driving is essentially a dishonorable profession.

There are many fine young veterans and others doing this work in Edmonton who are thoroughly decent and law-abiding.

The implication in the magistrate's comment is both unfair and unhappy.

Conservatives in Convention

The eyes of all Canada are turned to Ottawa where the Progressive Conservative party meets tomorrow to choose a leader who is bound to exercise a vast influence on the affairs of this country.

The names that have been mentioned as contenders for this high office are good substantial names and while the bearers of them vary widely in capacity, each has a notable contribution to make to Canada.

Leading candidates, of course, are Premier George Drew of Ontario and John Diefenbaker of Saskatchewan.

Premier Drew is a man of great force and administrative ability. He represents, to a greater or lesser degree, the extreme right wing of the party.

Mr. Diefenbaker, with a long and brilliant experience in parliament, has distinguished himself as an opposition critic. His political principles are perhaps a shade less austere and considerably more liberal than those of Premier Drew.

The choice of either of these men will expose the party to the influence of a powerful personality.

Obviously the choice of a new leader and the adoption of a new platform are of significance far beyond the immediate roster of the Progressive Conservative party. For the life of every Canadian can be touched by what happens in Ottawa within the next few days.

The man who is named to succeed John Bracken may be the next prime minister of Canada. At the very least, it is likely that he will be leader of the official opposition.

The Canadian people appear to have forgotten, to an extent that is sometimes alarming, the exceedingly vital part played in our system of government by the opposition and its leader.

Our political philosophy is based on a system of checks and counterchecks not the least of which is a strong and active representation in parliament of the chief minority view.

A vigorous and capable Progressive Conservative leader, then, is of high concern to all Canadians of all political persuasions.

That is why the good wishes of every Canadian citizen follows the convention delegates to the capital city.

World Lost Great Man

Editor, Bulletin.—The assassination of Count Bernadotte is the biggest blur in the world today. He was a man who did his best to make this a better world, a man who abhorred war and strove to bring peace, but failed as many others have done. The world has lost a great man, far greater than the layman knows. I am sure God will bless him.

Micawber Party Line

Editor, Bulletin.—Prime Minister Costello got a great reception and had a most favorable press during his visit to Eastern Canada, much to the discomfiture of certain bigoted enclaves, whose future is behind them.

Perhaps the warmth of Mr. Costello's reception may be attributed to the fact that he was not a visiting Socialist statesman bearing a tin cup and giving out the Micawber party line to his hosts.

Vets' House Profits

Editor, Bulletin.—In answer to the Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe's statement on the sale of veterans' houses, I am at a loss to understand how a man of his position could agree with any plan that fails to do justice by the returned soldier.

I question his claim that veterans' houses are not being inflated prices, as he stated, are a bargain. Has Mr. Howe taken into consideration that these houses have no basement and are not built of the best materials? It is doubtful that these houses, will stand the time allotted to the veteran to pay for them.

Central Mortgage has ignored the fact that they have drawn revenue from these houses from anywhere from two to three years, whereas the tenants—not enjoying the privilege of ownership—have in reality been compelled to pay taxes and water rates. This is explained by the fact that Central Mortgage was permitted to raise the rent $7 per month in lieu of taxes.

Apparently the protection of rent control was not intended for the veteran. It is difficult to understand why men who were willing to fight for democracy should be discriminated against in a land governed by the principles of democracy.

Did these men spend from three to six years abroad fighting for the type of legislation which is detrimental to the war veteran? I assume, as Mr. Howe is a member of the cabinet, that he represents the government's viewpoint.

If this is true, it would be well for the people of Canada to remember this disgraceful episode, during the Liberal regime, when the next election rolls around, and Mr. C. D. Howe would do well to remember that the purpose of the veterans' housing scheme was not to derive huge profits at the expense of the veteran-tenants, but rather to give the men who spent many years abroad fighting for the Canadian way of life—a home at a time when houses were a scarcity.

Israel And Terrorism

Editor, Bulletin.—The prompt and severe measures instituted by Israel's government against the terrorist Stern gang for its latest atrocity (the murder of Count Bernadotte) will meet with the warm approbation of all decent people.

It also translates into action Israel's declaration that she wishes to become a member of the UNO and abide by the principles of its charter.

There is no place for terrorism in any civilized state, be it Jewish, French, English or American. A government which allows it to persist automatically signs its own death warrant.

It appears that the Israel government has finally recognized the extent of the danger constituted by such an organization as the Stern gang.

Count's Heroism

Editor, Bulletin.—I knew Count Bernadotte very well. I spent nine years in the Swedish army, in one of the regiments where Count Folke was one of the officers. I saw him as an officer and a gentleman, which he was. I also saw him as a humanitarian, as a man standing apart from his fellow officers in his attitude.

I saw Count Bernadotte, the son of a prince, dive into the water in full uniform, trying to save the life of a private soldier, diving and swimming until completely exhausted, while other officers were standing by watching, and whilst the others were enjoying good health the Count was convalescing, only two or three days out of hospital after a serious illness. To Count Folke a man was a human being even if he was wearing a soldier's uniform and boasted no other rank but a private soldier's.

As a young subaltern, he was a second lieutenant in 1917, he lacked the one thing so prevalent among other officers of noble birth—he was not imbued with the haughty, inhuman Prussianism characteristic of most officers in Royal Life Guard regiments.

I know I was twice the victim of accidents where Count Folke's intervention prevented unnecessary suffering on my part, and the worry of my parents allayed due to his kind, soothing messages.

In my humble opinion, Count Folke Bernadotte was the highest ranking officer in the officer corps of the Royal Life Dragoons, not in military rank but as a humanitarian.

Degrading To Both

Editor, Bulletin.—Recently it was reported that a committee of the Montreal Presbytery recommended the recognition in Canada of the British divorces of Canadian servicemen. These divorces not being recognized in this country prevent the servicemen from remarrying.

If such an injustice is recognized existing amongst these servicemen, why not some humane understanding and recognition be given the hundreds of couples separated for years with no intention of resuming a relationship impossible and degrading to both parties?

Also, so much maudlin sentimentality is expressed about the poor children of broken homes. If any sympathy is required, it is for the children brought up in homes whose incompatibility, undercurrents of hatred and resentment exist, which a child feels, but does not understand.

But it would appear such an environment is to be preferred rather than a divorce, which, when settled and circumstances adjust themselves, gives the child a modicum of peace and calmness which certainly did not before exist in the home.

The royal commissions and committees set up at various times to inquire into this problem seem to be a favorite pastime of this country and would appear to be an evasion of getting down to business.

To those suffering for years under this flagrant injustice through a minority and the procrastination and indifference of our politicians, it behooves every interested citizen to forward a petition to the government requesting some amendment to our present archaic divorce laws.

Doesn't Like The Noise

Editor, Bulletin.—After the solemn ceremony, and the following friendly festival, it is customary for newly-wedded couples to leave for some place known only to themselves, generally by train or boat.

Their true friends have the decency to let them alone, but fail to escape the embarrassment, half a dozen inconsiderates will follow the bride and groom through the quiet streets, past the large hotels, hooting and clattering with horns and cans to make their going hideous with rattle and clangor.

Children would not be allowed so to disturb the peace. Why should these be permitted to use such objectionable instruments?

Warmth in Crosby

Columnist's View

SCOTT

As soon as it came over me that the reception for Bing Crosby was obviously something more than merely a warm welcome to an entertainer, more than just the usual celebrity chase, I telephoned a psychologist friend, suggested there might be something significant there, and asked him for a short-order analysis.

"No question of it," the psychologist responded, "All this hoop-la is as much a tribute to a type of person as it is to Crosby as a performer. There's probably no other star more fitted as a popular symbol for wish-fulfillment."

"Crosby's got what we all want!"

"In very many ways," my friend said. "He's a millionaire several times over, a father with a large family, middle-aged yet romantic in a pleasant, big brother sort of way, extremely natural and well-adjusted, a good sport, a fine entertainer without being theatrical. Above all, he gives the impression of being extremely happy."

"Other stars have many of those qualifications," I pointed out.

"That's true," the psychologist said, "but they don't appear plausible or down-to-earth in most others. Crosby isn't merely the kind of man most of us would like to be, but the kind of man most of us can imagine ourselves being. Do you follow that?"

Vaguely," I said.

"Well," my friend said, "put it this way: Crosby appears to the public as would an extremely popular and talented neighbor who has struck it rich, but hasn't changed a bit. He is The Nice Guy personified with the added dimension of success and glamour."

Crooner In Person

What this seems to add up to, if I follow my friend's logic, is that the tremendous welcome he has stirred in Edmonton can be explained simply because of his popularity as an actor and singer, but because most of us respect (or envy) him as a type of human being.

Well, I watched the jaunty, jug-eared Californian in action the other morning at the rehearsal for his radio show and later talked to some of his associates. And I came the conclusion that Crosby is not the simple, every-day sort of person the public fancies.

There's no "common touch" in the Crosby charm. He is curiously lacking in warmth and, in fact, the only really apt description of Bing in all the tremendous block of copy devoted to his trip here came from Ralph Daly, who called him "cold-eyed." He is, indeed.

The famous nerveless, free-and-easy style is partly a professional manner and partly the air of a man who literally has no problems.

I had asked one of his party about this enviable savoire faire. "Chosby seems completely unconcerned about everything," I said. "How does he get that way?"

"Maybe its because he owns Fort Knox," this fellow came back. "Seriously, Bing's the kind of person who actually doesn't know what it means to worry about security. In his earlier days he cared nothing about conventions or responsibilities. When he got to an age where that might happen he held the mortgage on California, and maybe most of the Middle-West. He's just never got around to a little decent worrying."

This magnificent unconcern is rather disconcerting when you are exposed to Crosby in the flesh. Being so completely independent of others results in a bland indifference and an apparent self-satisfaction that may be enviable, but are not exactly lovable.

With Jimmy Durante, for example, it was easy to feel a sense of comradeship that would not seem possible with Bing. Indeed, those who interviewed him found him extremely distant and one newsman who rode up from Tacoma with him said that Crosby was the only man he'd ever met who could leave you all by yourself without going away.

Forever On The Beat

Professionally, Crosby is something to see. I would like to wager that no man in any occupation anywhere is as altogether sure of himself as Bing. Singing obviously comes to him with only slightly more concentration and effort than breathing.

The root of this ability much more than trick larynx that produces some exceedingly pleasant sound. Bing's genius seems to me mainly an effortless sense of timing and rhythm and this is a gift that no imitator can fully acquire.

This timing or rythmn isn't merely converted into his handling of a tune, but is a part of Bing's life. It's no wonder he is a cracker-jack golfer. Every movement is economical. He seems to have no natural grace, yet if he fluffs an impromptu little step-dance (as he frequently does) it is immensely funny.

Indeed, all that Bing has seem to be natural resources. It is as if he were born to do exactly what he is doing, and this pleasant fate as a birthright and just let himself be carried along by the momentum.

All in all I thought him a most paradoxical guy and my psychologist friend agrees. He'd have to be a hero's son to have a half an hour with Bing to find out how he got that way.

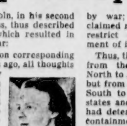
ON THE RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

Soviet Would Fight To Keep Europe Enslaved

Abraham Lincoln, in his second inaugural address, thus described the conditions which resulted in the U.S. Civil War:

"On the occasion corresponding to this four years ago, all thoughts were anxiously directed to an impending civil war. All dreaded it—all sought to avert it. While the inaugural address was being delivered from this place devoted altogether to saving the Union without war, insurgent agents were in the city seeking to destroy it without war—seeking to dissolve the Union, and divide effects, by negotiation. Both parties deprecated war; but one of them could make war rather than let the nation survive; and the other would accept war rather than let it perish. And the war came."



THOMPSON

There we have a classic analysis of the type of political conflict resulting in war. It is an appropriate description of the present situation. The West European states—with our aid—are trying to save their freedom and create some European unity, without war. The Russians are seeking to prevent and destroy the restoration of Europe, and subject it to the Soviet Union. Both parties deprecate war, but one of them would make war rather than let Europe survive.

Defeat Or War

Under these conditions, negotiations can have but one outcome: Defeat for one party and/or recourse to war. The aggression is entirely on one side. Again to quote the famous Lincoln address:

"To strengthen, perpetuate, and extend this interest (slavery) was the object for which the insurgents would rend the union, even by war; while the government claimed no right to do more than to restrict the territorial enlargement of it."

Thus, the civil war did not arise from the determination of the North to abolish Southern slavery but from the determination of the South to extend slavery to new states and territories. The north had determined upon a policy of containment.

So it is today. No conflict has developed over the peculiar despotic system of the Soviet Union, nor over the vast additional territories absorbed as a result of the advance of the Soviet armies into the East European world. It develops over Soviet determination to extend this conquest into the centres of western industry and culture.

Daily it becomes clearer that: rather than let Europe survive and recover, the Soviets will make war. In my belief they are pushed toward war by a variety of motives: the Marxist-Lenninist thesis that no Communist state, however vast, will ever be safe while a single powerful non-Communist state continues to exist; the poor opinion Soviet leaders have of the economic stability of their realm and consequently of the permanence of their rule, unless they can extend it to the far more highly developed industrial and technological civilization of the West; and the analysis that time (for war) is on their side.

Wanted Revolt

In connection with the latter thesis, the original Soviet hope of spontaneous Communist revolutions in the wake of a victorious war has failed to materialize. Except in Yugoslavia, where armed Communists won by splitting the resistance movement, no Communist revolution has occurred without the immediate presence or proximity of the Red armies, and the Communist fifth columns are not strengthening but being weakened everywhere.

The United States is not at present prepared for war. The risk that the Soviets run now, in attempting their step-by-step conquest is arguably less than it will be when Western Europe has industrially recovered—and when the American rearmament program is completed. Now, rather than later—the Soviets must think—the United States could be forced to accept a fait accompli, amounting to a complete reorientation of the continent and putting them in the Ruhr and in advance position from which to threaten America.

The Czech coup was the sign in the sky, from which the battle for Berlin follows logically.

And 1948 is the centenary of the Communist manifesto. This may have symbolic significance in the Soviet mind.

Smiles

The magistrate was deaf, but certainly not deafer than the two men before him.

The first man leaned forward.

"Sir," he exclaimed, "this man owes me a grocery bill amounting to $100 and refuses to pay it!"

The second man sprang up.

"That's a lie!" he cried indignantly. "My dog didn't bite him."

There was a pause while the magistrate reviewed the situation, then he announced the decision:

"Gentlemen," he said, "I fully appreciate your feelings, but I can see no reason why you should not combine to support your mother."

Mrs. Henpeck: "Everything is going up."

Mr. Henpeck: "Oh, I wouldn't say that. For instance, there's your opinion of me, my opinion of you, and the neighbors' opinion of us both."

FROM TODAY'S NEWS

By Dewitt Mackenzie

The United Nations faces its greatest crisis today as Britain, The United States and France throw the bitter Berlin conflict into the lap of the security council, charging that the Red blockade is a threat to international peace.

Indeed the situation is so grave that the three-year-old peace organization is in danger of splitting, with the democracies and the Soviet bloc going separate ways.

The Soviet press in Moscow also told the Russian public yesterday that the two camps in the UN might go their separate ways, this despite the fact that Soviet delegate Vishinsky was quoted by a London paper as saying in an interview: "We do not abandon the United Nations."

Well, suppose the UN does split—what then?

Foreign Secretary Bevin answered that in a horse-sense way by saying if it's impossible to work on a world basis "we must proceed on a regional basis." That is, the Russian bloc would have its own organization and the democracies would have theirs.

As a matter of cold fact there never has been a "United" Nations. The organization has been split wide open since the start, with the Communists using it for purposes of obstruction and as a grand sounding-board for Red propaganda.

So if the Russians want to desert the UN there need be no tears shed, although there will be regrets that there couldn't be collaboration.

But, says somebody, a split in the UN gets us further away from the ideal of "one world." I'm not so sure about that. We certainly are kidding ourselves if we think we are going to get one world through trying to make democracy and Communism mix.

They can't be made to mix under any circumstances. The Reds keep on telling us that our economy and form of government must be destroyed. Do they have to knock us out for the count before we recognize the situation?

Would-be mixers of oil and water might consider a statement by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address at the Sorbonne in Paris last night. She charged Russia with ruthless suppression of human rights at home and with interference in other countries' affairs. She urged the UN not to compromise with the Soviet bloc on the issue of human freedom, which she termed the "basic" problem confronting the world today."

How soon hath Time the subtle theef of youth, . . .
Stoln on his wing my three and twentith yeer!
My hasting dayes flie on with full career,
But my late spring no bud or blossom shew'th.
Perhaps my semblance might deceive the truth,
That I to manhood am arriv'd so neer,
And inward ripenes doth much less appeer,
That some more timely-happy spirits indu'th.
Yet be it less or more, or soon or slow,
It shall be still strictest measure even

FRIENDSHIP TRAIN LIVES UP TO NAME

PEACE RIVER, Sept. 29.—A working model of the idea behind the friendship train was given Monday to residents of Fairview.

The Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at present is on a goodwill tour of northern Alberta aboard the train.

While in Fairview, the Edmontonians were treated to "the full treatment" in luncheons by the Fairview Board of Trade, prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

The dinner was served in the still uncompleted Fairview Legion hall. In return, some Edmontonians suggested the "hat" be passed among their number to aid the project.

When the tally was in, the 70 odd Edmontonians had contributed $90 to the project.

● The deciding factor will be the preparation they actually get for their life's work. What happens in the next few years will be vital to their future.

Education has become so important that life insurance provision should be made for it, along with the other family needs.

In providing financial security for their children and themselves, Canadians are purchasing more than Two Hundred Million Dollars of new life insurance a year from this Company. They are reaping the benefit of the outstanding record of the London Life and the service of well-trained representatives.

These benefits can be yours also by having a London Life representative get in touch with you.

Canada's Part in New War Said Interesting Europe

By Clyde Blackburn

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Swiftly-marching events at home and abroad have pointed more clearly to the approaching moment when Canada and the United States will have to decide how and in what measure they may help strengthen the western European alliance for a possible defensive war.

This week has seen the spokesmen for Britain, the United States and France sternly warn Russia in the United Nations in Paris that her foreign policy threatens world peace.

Yesterday the five-power western alliance, meeting in Paris, started organization of combined land, sea and air commands and was reported to have on its agenda consideration of material aid, short of immediate participation, that they could expect from Canada and the United States.

FEAR RUSSIAN MOVE

At this moment there are in Washington the finance ministers and top financial advisers from 47 countries, here for the annual meeting of the governors of the International Fund and World Bank.

It is common knowledge that they are deeply concerned—those who are in the western alliance and the proposed north Atlantic security system—in the methods by which weakened European democracies may be strengthened to meet the emergency if Russia forces a conflict.

ABBOTT DROPS HINT

Canada's Finance Minister, Douglas Abbott, told a press conference here yesterday that Canada had been a heavy supplier of war materiel and could be again. But he did not pursue the subject.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer who was in Ottawa for a week before coming here for the routine meeting of the fund and bank, was questioned on this matter at a press luncheon yesterday.

He was asked if he believed lease-lend would have to be revived and he said that was something he would not want to talk about publicly.

WILL MEET HOFFMAN

Canada has a special team here with Abbott for talks with the Economic Affairs Co-operation Administration under Paul Hoffman. Abbott will have a private luncheon meeting with Hoffman tomorrow.

The ECA was set up to help the economic recovery of European countries and thus, possibly, save them from falling under totalitarian influence dictated by the Soviet Union.

It could be quickly transformed into a lend-lease mechanism if Congress approved. There has been speculation that a new Republican Congress and administration, if they come as a result of the November elections, might scrap even the Economic Recovery Plan.

Actress Dies

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Actress Miriam King, 31, collapsed from a heart attack and died on the stage before nearly 300 persons viewing a benefit performance here.

Siberia Refinery

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Russians are planning a big oil refinery in Siberia with equipment taken from eastern Germany, the American military government's official German newspaper said yesterday.

Model Aeroneers Warned By City

Edmonton's city officials today cracked down youths who fly motor-powered model air craft in city parks.

At the same time, they invited interested boys to join the Model Aeroneers and fly tiny planes at a Model Airport with the blessing of the City Parks Department.

"Flying of motor propelled model air craft in city parks is strictly prohibited," the Edmonton Recreation Commission and City Parks Department said in a joint statement.

An area situated between 116 street and 119 street and 113 avenue and 114 avenue, on the RCAF fastball diamond, has been leased to the Model Aeroneers for the purpose of flying model planes.

All boys interested in this hobby are requested to contact Capt. Randall, TCA, Staff Sgt. Carmichael, USAF, or the Recreation Commission office for information or the model airport layout and membership in the club, the statement said.

A flying exhibition of model planes next Sunday will be permitted at the Souli side Athletic Park by the Edmonton Model Aeroneers. The show will get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Church to Press Student Training

'United' Planning Expansion In Number of Directions

By Robert Phillips

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—The 13th General Council today will survey the whole field of the United Church's undertakings and will consider a report proposing expansion in several definite directions.

Dr. Sidney Smith of Toronto, president of the university of Toronto, headed an across-Canada committee which will bring down recommendations urging the United Church to:

1. Secure and train an adequate supply of recruits for full time service to the church.

2. Accept responsibility for religious training in its secondary schools and colleges.

AID FOR STUDENTS

3. Grant definite and adequate aid to its student ministers.

4. Review its whole theological training school program and attempt to economize in their operation while continuing to produce the largest number of adequately-trained ministers

5. Set an objective of $3,000,000 for the funds from which its church and missionary activities are maintained.

6. Establish a full-time public relations department.

F. R. Murgatroyd, a Hamilton layman, told the council the operation of eight theological colleges across Canada, five of which now serve only 155 students in all their faculties, is "unnecessary and wasteful."

Urging a review of colleges, he said "our Theological colleges need the best equipment possible."

During a report on overseas relief Rev. J. R. Muchmore of Toronto told the council last night that "Canada leads all nations in her per capita aid to the world's needy."

Summing up the United Church's contributions, he said the following efforts have been completed since war's end:

$50,624 for bombed British churches; $148,826 for the aid to European churches fund; $37,384 for relief to China and India; $40,320 for aid to distressed foreign mission fields and $15,000 for the pastors and peoples of Europe.

Dr. Mutchmore reported $14,000 worth of food parcels to Britain and western Europe, 20 bicycles to French clergymen for use in their parishes, and more than 250 tons of clothing to Europe and Asia.

The United Church is continuing its appeal for used clothing, he said.

5-Year-Old Shaves, Now He's Sorry

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Five-year-old Norman Faudil Sun Day thought it was about time he started shaving.

Today the youngster is in hospital . . . his ideas changed a bit.

After watching his father shave on innumerable occasions Norman yesterday found a razor and started on one cheek.

Murder Charge

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—George Wallace, 35-year-old Indian, yesterday was charged with murder in connection with the death last Wednesday of Andrew Kirkpatrick, 66.

Clergymen Will Get Pension Increases

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—The 13th General Council yesterday adopted a cost-of-living bonus totalling $235,000, for retired United Church ministers and widows.

Effective as soon as it can be implemented, the bonus will give an additional $150 to a retired minister and his wife, $100 to a single minister, $100 to a widow and $50 for each child, per year.

THREE-FOLD PLAN

A three-fold proposal calling for new objectives in the church's pension fund administration was accepted in principle and referred to the executive for detailed consideration. The plan suggested retirement age at 65 or after 40 years of service, a pension payment of $25 for each year of service and a mortality benefit of $500.

Arguing against immediate implementation of the new proposals, Mr. Justice Harold Thompson Regina, said "it will take $21,000,000 to keep the present pension promises. Another $5,000,000 would be needed for the increase and it is not readily available."

MAKING FETISH

Rev. F. H. Stevens of Hollyburn, B.C., said the council was "making a fetish of actuarial soundness." He said pensions had to be dealt with on a basis of humanity and brotherhood.

The council also approved 15 per cent salary increases for its 41 full-time officers, to an amount totalling $20,000 a year.

Judge F. A. E. Hamilton, Winnipeg and Mr. Justice G. J. Tweed of Charlottetown, proposed the salary increases retroactive to Jan. 1, 1948.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—"In two or three years," said Wallace Beery, "that little gal in the movies.

"If MGM is smart, it'll pay her what she's worth," continued the usually unenthusiastic Beery. "She is really exotic. They call a lot of those old babes exotic, but this gal really fits the word, by the way, what's her name?"

I supplied it—Elizabeth Taylor. Beery is not sharp at remembering names, even with those such as Lana with whom he has appeared in films. But an old show business eye like his couldn't mistake the talent of the dark-haired young beauty.

NEWS WITH ELIZABETH

There's news with Elizabeth these days, both concerning her sky-rocketing career and her romance with an army officer, Glenn Davis.

In case you haven't seen the gal since she played the kid in "National Velvet," you'll be interested to know that she was testing in a dress originally worn by Marie McDonald. "The body, Jr." you might call her. In fact, Marie's dress proved too large in the waist, but not big enough elsewhere.

Careful styling aided by her natural attributes made Elizabeth seem more mature than her 16 years. In the picture she plays a 17-year-old to Bob Taylor's 35.

I asked Mrs. Taylor if her daughter ever gave her any trouble. "No, she always stays in line," was the answer. "If she doesn't, she's still young enough to take a hair brush to."

FAVORITE SUBJECT

Elizabeth's favorite subject these days is not her film career, but Davis, the former grid star. The young actress proudly displays Glenn's gold football, which hasn't been removed from around her neck since he put it there.

Right now there's only one thing separated them—about 6,900 miles of Pacific ocean. He's in Korea on a three-year army stretch.

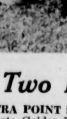
Two Bears and a Football

THAT EXTRA POINT is often important in a football game and here is the University of Alberta Golden Bears' specialist Ken Moore practicing. Holding is Jim Macrae.

Two Golden Bear Regulars Sidelined With Injuries

Coach Don Smith of the Varsity Golden Bears football team was having his difficulties Tuesday. Two of his regular linemen—Leon Plotkins and Barney Adair—will be out of the line-up for three weeks due to leg injuries.

Both men suffered torn ligaments in last Saturday's game with the University of Saskatchewan Huskies. Yesterday both were fitted with casts and are not expected to see action until the Saskatchewan Roughrider game on October 25.



Don Smith

Meanwhile the remainder of the Bears zipped through a heavy drill in preparation for the second match of the Hardy Cup series against the Huskies at the Clarke Stadium Saturday afternoon. The Albertans won the first game 21-5.

Vernor Calhoun and Gardie Hutcheon, two holdovers from the 1947 team, reported to the Bears yesterday. Smith indicated that one or both might be dressed for Saturday's fixture.

Bob Causgrove, another veteran who missed the season opener, is expected to see action Saturday in either a tackle or fullback position.

Bill Ingram and Jack Perry, two former stars with the Goldies, have reiterated their intention not to play football this year.

Alouettes Back In Grid Picture

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Montreal Alouettes boomed back into contention in the Big Four Football League with a vengeance Tuesday night, smothering Hamilton Wildcats 36-6 under a sparkling aerial attack and ground offensive that kept 9,000 fans on the edge of their seats throughout.

The triumph boosted Alouettes into sole possession of third place with two victories and three losses for four points, two behind the second-spot Toronto Argos. The defeat shoved Wildcats deep into the cellar with only one win in five starts.

London Squares Sandlot Series

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 29.—(CP)—Joe Bechard's grand-slam homer in the opening inning Tuesday night gave London Majors their impetus as they coasted to a 13-1 triumph over Fort Wayne General Electrics in the best-of-seven Sandlot World Baseball Series. The game tied up the series at three victories apiece.

COULD BE ANSWER TO CONN'S PRAYER

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 29. — (CP) — Fleming Mackell could be the answer to Conn Smythe's prayer.

For years the Toronto Maple Leafs' manager has been searching for an Irish hockey player with the skill and fight of King Clancy, Hec Kilrea and Frankie Finnigan.

Mackell's showing at training camp to date indicates that he may be the man.

The stocky right winger has been one of the leading scorers in training workouts. Captain Teeter Kennedy leads with 15 points while Mackell and Max Bentley share second spot with 13 each.

THIS REALLY HURT

Philadelphia Athletics couldn't do a thing with Vic Raschi all year but Tuesday, when it really hurt, the A's blasted the Yankees and Raschi for a 5-2 triumph.

At Detroit the St. Louis Browns gained a 5-3 win over Detroit Tigers with Hank Arft's eight-inning homer, the 32nd this season off Freddie Hutchinson. Fred Sanford, Brownie righthander who has lost 20 games, gave up only six hits for his 12th win.

The newly-crowned National League champs, Boston Braves, lost a 13-inning game to Brooklyn Dodgers 9-8 at Ebbets Field. Lefty Clyde Shoun in the fourth Boston pitcher, was the victim of Jackie Robinson's 12th home run blast that led off the 13th inning.

Warren Spahn started for Boston and was followed by Bill Voiselle, Nels Potter and Shoun. The Dodgers altogether got 18 hits, with other homers by Pee wee Reese and Eddie Miksis, while the Braves made 16 off Joe Hatten, Ervin Palica, Hank Behrman and Preacher Roe—Jeff Heath and Frank McCormick getting homers.

The Giants beat the Phillies 6-5, then lost the second game at New York 6-3, called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

At Chicago the Reds lost 6-2 to Chicago Cubs, and joined the Cubs in the cellar. Lefty Bob McCall had his third win of the year as Johnny Vander Meer weakened in the late innings.

Canadians Call Junior Practice

Edmonton Canadians have called a junior hockey practice tonight at the arena to run from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Kirk's Esks Tackle Junior Stars Tonight

Edmonton Eskimos, intermediate football team, meet their first test of strength tonight at Clarke Stadium when they tangle with an all-star junior outfit. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

Strangely enough the juniors are given a good chance to walk off with the contest. Their supporters point to the fact that they have been playing competitively.

Paul Kirk's igloo dwellers are mainly fellows who like to play football and are over junior age. That they have the name of the city's two-time winners of the Western Canada grid championship, Deacon White's Eskimos of the early 1920's, may prove significant.

Kirk and several of his colleagues hope to bring the senior brand of football back to Edmonton and will consider their intermediate effort may have considerable bearing on any resumption in the higher classification.

The club is endeavoring to arrange a game with a Saskatoon outfit.

HAJASH TO PLAY

Mickey Hajash, star backfielder from Calgary junior ranks and one of the greatest players ever to don a University of Alberta uniform, will line up with the intermediates. Others on the roster of the Eskimos who played both junior and university football include Brian Dunsworth, Grant DeFraine and Clem Kerr.

The Eaks will be out to run up as big a score as possible in order to have good claim for a game against the University Golden Bears.

The juniors will be mainly

MICKEY HAJASH
. . . a Blubber Eater.

Maple Leafs with four EAC players and Jack Butchart, their coach, making up a complete spare backfield. Butchart will play left halfback. Maple Leaf Coach Bill Mayson also will line up with the juniors.

The juniors are not expected to play an orthodox game. To combat the heavier intermediate club they are expected to rely a lot on deception.

Bearden Hurls Tribe Nearer AL Pennant

Indians Take a Stranglehold As Yanks, Red Sox Both Lose

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Looks like Cleveland Indians will face Boston Braves in the world series next week.

The Indians Tuesday night whitewashed Chicago White Sox 11-0, backing up Gene Bearden's shutout pitching with a 13-hit attack.

That victory gave Cleveland a two-game lead over Boston and New York, with only four games left to play in the American league pennant race.

The victory, Cleveland's third straight and 17th in their last 20 games, gave the Tribe a stranglehold on the flag.

The Red Sox and Yankees, deadlocked for second place, set the stage for the Indians' almost insurmountable lead by losing their afternoon games.

A three-run first inning of lefty Bill Wight, ignited by leadoff batter Dale Mitchells' 308-foot home run into the right field stands, sent the Indians off to a flying start at Cleveland.

They picked up an unearned run in the second, a legitimate tally in the fourth, then burst the game wide open in the fifth with a six-run assault that chased Wight to the showers.

ALLIE CLARK IN FORM

Allie Clark who, like Bearden, came to the Indians from the Yankees, led the Tribe's attack on three Chicago pitchers with a home run and three singles in five trips to the plate. Clark drove in three runs and scored three times.

At Boston it was Rae Scarborough who held the Red Sox to six hits as Washington won 4-2. The crowd of 10,485 at Fenway Park seemed to sense that it was all over. The Sox didn't play like world series candidates.

Washington, a team that recently lost 16 straight, broke loose with four runs in the second inning when Boston's pitcher Joe Dobson was yanked—for his 20th loss—and Lefty Mickey Harris went in. Harris shut out Washington the rest of the way.

Badminton Treat For West Coast

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Badminton fans here may be in for something special this fall—the appearance of an all-India team.

They may see India play Canada in the American zone semi-finals of the Sir George Thomas cup play. If not, they will see the Indian players in exhibition play with local stars.

The fabulous Maharaja of Baroda, president of the Indian Association, challenged officials in the American zone. The draw lines Canada against his team, with the winner taking on United States finalists in December.

Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver have bid in on the match and the venue is still in doubt.

WELLAND, Ont., Sept. 29.—(CP)—The National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens shut out the American Hockey League Buffalo Bisons 5-0 Tuesday night for the Canadiens' third victory in a three-game exhibition series.

B.C. Stars Win Jr. Lacrosse

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—B.C. All Stars Tuesday night brought the Canadian junior lacrosse championship to British Columbia for the first time in the 10-year history of the Minto Cup. The All Stars defeated St. Catharines 12-10 to take the best-of-five series three games to two.

In the bitterly-contested series, the defending champion Athletics won the first game, dropped two straight and then tied the championship finals Monday night with a narrow victory.

The B.C. team shaded the Athletics in Tuesday night's tight affair in a similar pattern as they won the series. Trailing 6-3 after the first quarter, they outshot St. Kilts four goals to one in the second frame to draw even at 7-7, then eased into a one-goal 9-8 lead at the end of the third and increased their margin by one more counter in the final quarter.

Gord Brydson Cops Canadian Pro Title

VANCOUVER, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Gordie Brydson of Toronto tossed away his 16th cigar of the day on the home green, sank a three-foot putt as darkness was closing in and won the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship Tuesday.

It was a close call for Brydson, with a 72-hole medal score of 292.

One stroke behind was Stan Leonard of Vancouver, who missed an eagle and a tie with Brydson at the 18th by an inch.

Brydson had to sink a birdie to win. Walking to the edge of the green he threw away his last cigar and promptly sank the putt that gave him top money of $350.

It was Brydson's second championship in four years. He won the 36-hole tournament in 1944 at the Seignory Club in Quebec with 143.

In third place came Fred Wood of Vancouver with 295.

Four strokes behind Wood, with 299, came Pat Fleicher of Saskatoon, followed by Ernie Tate of. Vancouver with 301.

Dave Dixon of Red Deer was in eighth place and won $30, while Pete Olynyk of Edmonton finished out of the money.

Brydson was re-elected as president of the CPGA after the tournament.

The association also decided to split their divisions into five instead of the present 11 zones, with presidents of each division to serve on the executive as vice-presidents.

The new five-division set-up will be made up of the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, Prairies and West Coast.

Goalies in Stern Struggle Talk of Chicago Den

NORTH BAY, Ont., Sept. 29.—A fight between two goaltenders for the netminding chore with Chicago Black Hawks and the great bid of one of them, Emile (The Cat) Francis of Regina, for retention of the job is the talk of Hawks' training camp here.

Francis will be taken along as goalie when the Hawks meet St. Louis Flyers in Midland, Ont., Wednesday night in an exhibition encounter. His work between the pipes Saturday night when he stopped 49 shots for Kansas City Pla-Mors in an exhibition tilt, earned him the trip to Midland. Right now he appears to have the edge on rookie Al Rollins, formerly of Edmonton Flyers, Allan Cup holders.

Rollins is slated to undergo the acid test on Saturday when Hawks and Pla-Mors again clash here. Coach Charlie Conacher plans to put Francis in the Black Hawk net and let Rollins face the fire power of the tribe.

Even former NHL great Tiny Thompson, who this week donned the pads himself and gave the two aspiring Hawk goalies a demonstration of covering the angles, won't pass judgment yet on either Francis or Rollins.

Rookie Don Slater, who fired two goals for Kansas City here Saturday, also has earned a trip to Midland with the parent club, and likely will be used on a wing. Slater, formerly with Edmonton Canadian Juniors, showed speed to burn and gave an all-round performance in the opening contest.

SPORTS BULLETIN

Frank Boucher Mum On Outcome of NHL

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Sept. 29.—(CP)—Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers who scored 100 per cent in a pre-season prediction last year, is making no forecast of how the six teams of the National Hockey League will finish the 1948-49 season.

'Anything can happen," the Ottawa-born Boucher, who left the RCMP in 1921 for a brilliant hockey career, said in an interview Monday at the hockey camp.

One of the few men in the ice sport who remembers when there were only 70 professional hockey players in the world, Boucher at this time last year perfectly foretold the final NHL standing—Toronto, Detroit, Boston, New York, Montreal and Chicago.

The former star centre said: strengthened. Toronto, the League This year all the teams are leaders and Stanley Cup winners last year, could end up at the bottom of the pile this year and Chicago might be at the top."

Looking around the training table, the 47-year-old Boucher said:

"We've got a reliable defence for the first time since before the war." Youth and heft were also making for a stronger Ranger squad and help for New Haven Ramblers, St. Paul Saints, Tacoma Rockets and New York Rovers of the minor leagues.

"We were in a cycle of small players but now we are getting much bigger fellows," said the blue shirts' mentor who took over the job in February, 1946, from Lester Patrick.

Greenland, the world's largest island, was explored in 982 by Eric the Red.

HUGH CASEY TO AGAIN PLAY FOR LEO DUROCHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers plan to give Hugh Casey his unconditional release at the end of the season and the pitching hero of the 1947 World Series says he expects to go back to Leo Durocher's New York Giants.

Harold Parrott, road secretary of the Dodgers, confirmed that the 33-year-old righthander would be released after Casey had broken the news Monday night.

"I've always been a Durocher man all the way through," he told a reporter.

The durable right-hander was out of the line-up most of this season because of a back injury.

Volley Ballers Ready to go

Last organization meeting of the newly-formed city volley ball league will be held Thursday at the USO hall at 7:30 p.m. Jack Reilly, supervisor of athletics for the Recreation Commission, announced Tuesday night.

Seven teams already have entered the league and four more entries are expected before the registry deadline passes Thursday. The loop will open play Oct. 2.

Meet Freshman Johnny Black

So it was just a mistaken idea all along. Johnny Black, shifty Flyer winger of last season, isn't going to join Cleveland Barons after all.

As a matter of fact the elusive speedster is back in the city—large as life, too—from the Brandon training camp of the American league champions. He will go to university of Alberta, there to peer into the intricacies of the world of engineering.

"I can't get it out of my mind that Varsity is the place for me," the wavy-haired, quick-to-change-his-mind artist said seriously at his home in the Highlands late Monday. "Maybe I'm making the wrong move. Maybe I should have gone through with my plan to play professional hockey. But there's only one way to find out, one way to get this education bug out of my head . . . or keep it there for good.

"If I don't make it . . . " He shrugged his shoulders.

Several hours before the 25-year-old freshman had attended his first class at the university.

There seems little reason to doubt but what in this case hockey has bowed out for keeps in favor of the higher three R's. The young man with the blazing burst of speed and the will-o-the-wisp shift has grabbed off a slide rule in place of a hockey stick.

He Cooked His Hockey Goose

Of course there can be no thought of Black rejoining the Flyers. He got himself in much too deep with. the Cleveland organization before finally making up his mind.

Several places along the way, since negotiations first started last winter, Johnny said "yes" when, as it turns out, he really should have been shaking his head.

For one thing he inked a C-form. Next to an out-and-out contract that's professional hockey's most binding agreement. Once an amateur puts his John Henry to this form, he gives his future right into the hands of the signing organization.

It was this C-form agreement that prompted Black to head for Brandon two weeks back. But even then he was fighting that big yen for higher education. By way of keeping certain of his bridges standing behind him he made arrangements before leaving to enter Alberta 'U', if, and when, he decided against going pro.

Just last Saturday night in Brandon Black inexplicably, went one step farther. He signed a Cleveland contract. This was strike three insofar as returning to the Flyers was concerned. The pros take a dim view of fellows who reach for a pen without always meaning it.

* * * *

A Surprise Move

By this time the latest addition to the ranks of the green and gold will have been slapped on hockey's suspended list.

It goes without saying that his decision to return home, coming so close on his signing of the proffered Cleveland contract, would be cause for great surprise, and not a little consternation, back in Brandon.

For one thing he had been guaranteed a left wing berth. The money was good. Every sympathy had been shown him by Barron heads where he came to his anxiety for further schooling. They were going to arrange for him to enter a U.S. college next spring. He seemed set.

However all this is water under the bridge.

For the next while the colorful Black, who came through so handsomely for the Allan cup winning Flyers in the run through the stretch last spring, will have his head in the books, not in hockey's clouds. No one but will wish him every success, too.

Regretfully those Flyers won't have the same look without the dashing Black in their line-up. But then it would have been just the same had he hooked up with the Clevelanders.

Don't Mention Close Scores to Rider Fans

REGINA, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Don't try to tell a Saskatchewan football fan about the close game back in 1922. He's seen too many of them this year.

And most of them in the Western Canada Senior Football League went against his beloved Saskatchewan Roughriders — considered by many the most threatening team that ever decorated the basement of the league.

It could have been an omen when Riders opened their season with an exhibition tilt against Toronto's Argonaut Indians. The Easterners edged Riders 1-0 by booting the single point on the last play.

Riders bounded back with a smashing 17-6 triumph over the defending western champions, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, to open the league in style. That was the last game they won. They've lost their last six.

One was a clearcut 12-1 trouncing from the burly Calgary Stamps undefeated this season. But of the other five two were lost by one-point margins, one by a three-point margin and two by converted touchdowns that wiped out Rider leads.

The point is, to the tearful Regina fan, the league doormats led in every one of the six lost games at one time—in five of them by a margin which seemed to ensure victory. Most of the games were lost by spectacular opposition fourth-quarter drives.

Between sobs, John Phan here-abouts illustrates his point with a Rider-Bomber contest that culminated in Riders blowing a 13-5 lead in the fourth-quarter to lose 16-13. Or another Winnipeg-Regina game when Riders piled up an early 7-0 lead and lost 14-13 on a desperation-driven field goal. Then at Winnipeg, Riders blew a 9-0 second-quarter lead and lost 15-9.

Last Saturday's fiasco at Calgary where the Roughriders lost four 13-12 on converted fourth-quarter touchdowns to Stampeders left Saskatchewan supporters stunned. Riders had led 12-1 at the end of the third quarter.

CERDAN GOES HOME BUT WILL RETURN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan received a championship belt and a lot of kind words Tuesday at a farewell luncheon with the New York Boxing Writers Association.

Cerdan, who leaves for France Thursday, said he will return to the United States to defend the title he won from Tony Zale in Jersey City last week. He will not defend the championship in Europe.

Nat Fleischer, editor-publisher of the Ring magazine, also presented belts to Zale and, by proxy, to England's Freddie Mills, recent winner of the world light-heavyweight title. Mills' belt was sent to him through Sidney Lewis of London, whose brother John Lewis, a Member of Parliament, will make a formal presentation.

McGill Battles Neuman to Draw

By Dick Beddoes

Pat McGill rallied in the dying minutes of his feature match with Lou Neuman on the wrestling card Tuesday night to secure a draw with his heavier opponent.

An estimated crowd of 1,200 witnessed McGill from California pin Neuman with a dropkick to the chin in the 50th minute of their one-hour battle and even the score at one fall each. Irish Pat, the fans' favorite, brought down the entire stock pavilion with that particular display.

ALL THE TRICKS

Neuman, a muscled greaseball weighing 250 pounds, pulled every trick in the book and thought up a few new ones to secure the first fall at 44:33. He applied the painful backbreaker but had McGill groggy prior to this with hair pulling, gouging, punching, et al.

Referee Wally Beaumont, sometimes described by the female fans as the blindest man in captivity, was never in position to reprimand Neuman for his illegal tactics.

But in the end Hero McGill had his innings and ended the show as a well-earned draw.

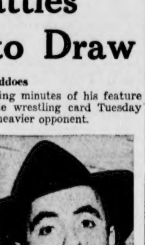
HART IN TROUBLE

Hernandez the nimble had Hart in trouble on occasion but the hometown boy slid out and away from such trouble falls that might have been charged against him.

Pentaleon Maniapig of Manila was victorious over Dave Ruhl from Hanna in the preliminary. The Phillipino slammed Ruhl to the mat in 12 minutes with three flying mares and a body stretch.

The card was delayed 45 minutes when the participants encountered tire trouble travelling from Calgary. Before grappling each other in the ring the six wrestlers had to grapple four flat tires on the road.



CLARENCE MOHER

Moher Named To Pilot Bears

The University Athletic Board announced Tuesday that Clarence Moher has been appointed coach of the Golden Bear hockey team for the coming season. Moher succeeds Andy (Shorty) Purcell who resigned after winning the western intercollegiate championship for three straight years.

The board also indicated that plans are afoot to fly Moher and his Bears to Colorado Springs in February for a two-game series with the college team there. If the American interests can post a $2,500 guarantee the Bears will play in Colorado Springs on Feb. 4-5.

A proposal from the UBC Thunderbirds to play the Bears in Edmonton over the Christmas holidays was turned down, according to Andy Andrekson, vice-chairman of the board.

Moher comes to the Varsity with a wealth of coaching experience. A year ago Clarence guided the Wetaskiwin Canadians and in 1946-47 was chief coach of all hockey clubs in Vernon, B.C. Prior to this he tutored the New Westminster Royals of the WCHL and several teams in the Canadian and Edmonton Athletic Club organizations in this city.

Charlton Tops Grid Scorers

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Lanky Ken Charlton today leads the individual scoring parade in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show the Saskatchewan Roughrider halfback with 25 points in six games. Charlton last week-end added a touchdown to his previous total of 20 points—from two touchdowns and 10 singles —to move ahead of Bob Stanberry of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, idle last week.

Sandberg, now in the runner-up spot, holds an unchanged total of 23 points on four major scores and three singles.

Three league-leading Calgary Stampeders—undefeated so far this season—continue to dominate the team scoring, with a total of 97 points for, as compared with 26 against in six games.

Bombers and Riders—each having played seven games—both show deficits, with the second-place Winnipeg club having scored only 56 points while 110 were scored against them, and Riders totalling 73 points while their opponents scored 90 against them.

Weekly Table Tennis at USO

The Recreation Commission announced Tuesday that public table tennis sessions will be held in the USO hall every Tuesday night until further notice. First session was Tuesday night.

All interested persons have been invited by the commission to attend and instruction will be given anyone wishing it by members of the Edmonton and District Tennis Association. There will be eight tables in use each night.

Boston Seats Go In 14 Minutes

Three Flyer Stars Return from East

'Bing', 'Rook' and 'Boomer' Back from Canadiens' Camp

It was just a telegram. But when Frank Currie opened it Tuesday afternoon at his office in the Arena he heaved a great sigh of relief.

Signed 'Bing,' 'Rook' and 'Boomer' the missive bore the welcome news that Stephen (Bing) Merluk, Doug (Rook) Anderson and Bud (Boomer) MacPherson were returning to the Flyer fold after a siege of training with Montreal Canadiens of the Big Wheel.

The airborne trio was scheduled to arrive in Edmonton sometime Wednesday morning. Later in the day they will work out with their teammates of last season at the Arena.

The return of forwards Merluk and Anderson means the inclusion once more of a pair of snipers who bagged 48 goals between them in regular WCHL play. This isn't exactly hay, either, when ace goalgetters coms together.

PRIZE ROOKIE

Anderson, in his first season, won the rookie award.

MacPherson, another first year addition to the squad, also won his spurs with some fine performances as the Currimen raced to the Allan cup. A big fellow, who goes well over 200 pounds in fighting trim, the former Maple Leaf Athletic club junior figures to be of even greater help in his sophomore season.

"I think we'll go right along from here," Currie enthused while watching his Flyers go through another stiff drill at the Arena Thursday night. "Naturally I was hoping for their sake that all three boys would make it. But I'm certainly not. I'm mighty glad to get 'em back."

Currie, at the moment, appears to be in the spot where he may have more players than he can accommodate.

For one thing MacPherson's return gives him the five defencemen he had on the roster last spring, the others being Gordon Watt, Doug Lane, Harvey (Pug) Young and Bill Pettinger. However the last named was out with a broken leg at the time, thus relieving somewhat the congestion along the Flyer blue line.

PLENTY OF FORWARDS

With Merluk and Anderson in the fold no fewer than 11 attackers of WCHL experience are on the premises. As well Bernie Bathgate, the slippery puck man he could be, is certain to catch a place. Several rookies, including Colin Kilburn of last season's Wetaskiwin Canadians, are making a determined bid for a berth.

But, like they say, sometimes it's better to be too fat than too thin.

Several 'whodunits' will require solving before the season opens Oct. 13. First of the queries centers of whether to again toss Clovechol, Merluk and Anderson over the boards as one line or leave intact the Bathgate, Clovechok, Pringle unit which worked together so effectively on the coast a couple of years ago and which has shown to advantage in workouts to date.

Then there's the matter of where Elmer Kreller is to fit in. With Johnny Black no longer around the onetime 'Shadder' has been holding down a left wing spot with pivot Morey Rimstad and Bill Maher.

What of Dan Stanley and rookie Kilburn? There's Fred Smitten and Gordon Buttrey to be considered. Ah, lotsa problems in stock.

So it will go through the next two weeks as Coach Currie goes about putting together his best Flyer aggregation for the season.

Blue-line faceoffs: Dinny McManus, young netminder who dislocated his shoulder in Monday's practice, was on hand last night for further diathermy treatments . . . Ed Kerstiuk worked in his place while Keith Woodall, the ex-Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchman, carried on in the other net.

This Denny Huddleston, signed by Calgary Stampeders, is a big, rawboned 22-year-old rearguard from the Kootenays . . . Those who have seen him play say he will do alright by the Stamps . . . The Calgarians also have come up with forward Bobby Ballance, a Coast league graduate . . . Gordon Watt was on hand for last night's Flyer practice but Freddy Smitten has been ordered to stay away from the rink until fully recovered from a severe bout with congestion of the lungs.

Lou Boudreau Picks Lemon If Playoff Tilt Necessary

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Lou Boudreau already has set up his Cleveland pitching plans for the remainder of the season so that Bob Lemon will be ready for a playoff game, if necessary.

When fans presented Andy Seminick, the Phillies' catcher, a watch on his "day," one unkind observer remarked they also should have given him an arm to wear it on. Brooklyn has just celebrated the occasion by stealing two bases on Andy.

And did you hear the radio announcer at the Purdue-Notre Dame game who excitedly shouted: "The fumble is rolling around in the air?"

In the Baltimore-Brooklyn pro football game Sunday, Dick Barwegan, the Colts' captain, decided to take a penalty against Brooklyn instead of taking the ball after a poor Dodger punt . . . On the bench Coach Cecil Isbell was moaning because Dick had tossed away some yardage.

Brooklyn punted again and stormy Barwegan grabbed the ball and galloped back 92 yards for a touchdown . . . Isbell charged out to the sidelines and shouted: "That's the way to call them, Dick."

Ever since 1942 Penn State Coach Bob Higgins has been trying to cure Larry Joe, a speedy but thumb-fingered halfback, of the habit of fumbling. . . . In practice the other day Larry was tackled near the sidelines where his wife, Marie, and four-month-old Larry Joe, Jr., were watching.

As usual, he dropped the ball. But this time Larry, chirped the End Coach Earle Edwards, "if I were Marie I wouldn't even let you hold the baby."

Trundlers who bowl 'em at the Rec and South Side alleys are oiling up their heaving arms these chilly nights just in case the latest 'brain-wave' materializes.

The new idea which has been in the minds of both academy heads of late, consists of selecting all-star contingents from various leagues to play in inter-alley competitions.

The plan, according to George Boujie, manager of the Rec, would be to pick high average players from a league on the north side to match shots with a similar talented group from across the Saskatchewan . . . If you are a mechanic, you play mechanics, and so on.

"There is a lot of speculation about the scheme," enthused Boujie . . . It is hoped to put the plan to work early this winter.

Congrats to Ed Oberg, prominent city maple-spreader who was elected president of the Senior Men's league at a meeting last night . . . Presty Giffen was elevated to the position of vice-president while Lloyd Frith takes over as secretary and Jack McCallum as treasurer.

McCallum will be remembered as the 'hardest luck' bowler of last season. . . It was he on whom Darve Fortune put a chilly hand on his last ball for a perfect 450 game . . . To make matters worse, the king-pin—lone pin to stand erect after his fifth consecutive. Incidentally, the Senior Men's loop is currently the hottest at the Rec.

A tip of the hat to Watt Ramsey, who despite being 70 and more years old, is setting a hot pace on the alleys . . . the oldest league trundler in the city, Mr. Ramsey boasts a lofty 229 average . . . He captains the Ramseys in the Commercial circuit.

All teams in league competition at the rec are abiding by the foul-line rule this season according to Manager Boujie . . . If a player slides over the line, the pins are reset and he or she loses one throw . . . The averages may nose-dive, but the majority of the trundlers are happy.

It is good practice, looking ahead to when bowlers take in tourneys in other places where the ruling is enforced . . . It also saves a little wear and tear on the alleys.

McLACHLIN COACHES VARSITY'S PANDAS

Herb McLachlin will coach the University of Alberta women's basketball team this season, McLachlin's appointment as Panda maestro was made yesterday in a closed session of the University Athletic Board, headed by Professor Maury Van Vliet.

McLachlin comes to the University of Alberta after graduating from the University of Toronto with a physical education major. He is also an assistant professor of physical education at the U of A, replacing Richie Hughes who is continuing his studies in California.

McLachlin is a former Edmontonian and secured his high school training at Westglen. He will be assisted on the Panda coaching staff by Miss Pat Austin.

Al Oeming Dissolves 'Rassling' Partnership

The Al Oeming-Larry Tillman wrestling combine is no more.

In its stead today is the Al Oeming Wrestling Enterprises, which will present a card in the stock pavilion at the Exhibition Grounds every Tuesday night throughout the winter season.

Oeming announced Tuesday he had dissolved his partnership with Tillman after the pair had failed to reach satisfactory financial arrangements on their Edmonton deal.

Under the old agreement Oeming was the promoter on the local scene and Tillman arranged the matches. Tillman will continue to promote in Calgary while Oeming will deal directly with the Great Falls, Mon., headquarters of the western circuit in securing wrestlers for his cards.

"The financial pie here is too small to be cutting it up into several slices," said Oeming yesterday, "and I couldn't afford to be paying Tillman his slice for matchmaking."

Imperial Now Crowding 100

By Cecil Jackman

By the time the Redwater discovery well goes on production later this week the number of Imperial producers in the Leduc and Woodbend fields will have reached the 100 mark. At present the company has 98 successful completions in the two fields and several others entering the completion stage. The Leduc field has 92 Imperial producers and the remainder are at Woodbend.

Nearing the production stage are Imperial Leduc No. 86 with drilling almost completed, and No. 92 standing cemented, Imperial No. 103 with casing set, and No. 105 with circulation lost at 5,370 feet. The wells with the casing set will have had production tests before the end of the week unless unexpected difficulties hold up the regular routine.

Two of the Woodbend wells, Imperial Woodbend No. 6 and No. 8, are also near completion depth. When last reported No. 6 was stuck at the bottom of the 5,323 foot hole.

ONLY ONE FAILURE

Only Imperial failure in the Leduc field to date was No. 34 which logged too low for production near the south end of the main field's east flank. Imperial Leduc No. 63 missed production at the north end of the Leduc field, plugged back and redrilled up dip to the south. A long list of difficulties has beset the experts directing this job. At present the whipstock is stuck at 4,158 feet and crews are circulating mud and working pipe in an effort to free it.

Very frequently when a pipe or whipstock is stuck oil is pumped down and "spotted" at a depth where it will lubricate the metal and wall of the hole and make the job of clearing the hole easier.

Imperial has had no failures at Woodbend where no step-out drilling has been undertaken. All new holes are started as offsets to previous Imperial production.

34 INDEPENDENTS

There have been 34 successful independent completions in the Leduc and Woodbend including Central Leduc No. 5C and Okalta No. 4. This figure does not include fabulous Atlantic No. 3 which was not a completion, but blew into production while drilling was still in progress. The other two Atlantic wells are included in the total although closed down by government order.

Also off the production list but included in the completion total is Leduc Consolidated No. 2. This well was a producer up to April when it closed down as a result of operations at Atlantic No. 3. An attempt to get it back on production in June brought a little oil and then pure salt water. The hole was bottomed with only 18 inches of porosity above the water line. It is now being redrilled up dip to the northwest with every chance of a favourable completion.

Top Quality Beef in Canada Like U.S. Third

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Because Canadians won't pay $4 for a steak dinner, top-quality Canadian beef is the same quality as third-grade meat in the United States, George L. Wenzel, American restaurant authority told Toronto restaurant operators Tuesday.

"It is simply that Canadians won't stand for the price a higher quality beef would call for," he said. "It is not the farmers who are at fault."

American first-grade beef is the equivalent of Canadian show beef which sells for up to $20 a pound, he said.

Stocks Improve In Low Turnover

Papers Lead Industrial Groups Golds and Western Oils Quiet

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—(CP)—All groups strengthened as trading slowed to a crawl on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials edged ahead steadily on fractional gains and base metals continued the brightest spot on the board with some strong advances. Golds were quiet and firmer and the handful of western oils trading advanced. Volume was about 425,000 shares.

Papers led the mild recovery in the industrial groupings and liquors and refining oils followed suit with fractional advances. Canadian Vickers preferred shone in a firmer steels list and utilities mixed gains and losses.

Base metals showed only one loss towards the close as Noranda led the list in a steady climb East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Osisko. Reeves Mackenzie and Waite Amulet were also ahead on good gains.

Both Noranda and Mining Corporation touched new highs in active trading today apparently on the basis of rumors of a deal involving them and Quemont, circulating on the exchange in recent days.

Golds and western oils were very quiet with Calgary and Edmonton showing a good advance in the oils and selected junior golds gaining.

NEW YORK MARKET RECOVERS SLOWLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A slow recovery took the stock market into higher ground today in restraining trading. The volume was around 800,000 shares.

Rails and oils again led as they did Tuesday, with steels and motors following along. The rubber group advanced but with only moderate activity. Utilities and airlines remained mixed.

The pace of trading quickened on the brief intermediate rallies and slowed when prices were cut by small fractions.

Canadian issues were higher. Canadian Pacific added ⅛. Hiram Walker was up ¼. Dome Mines gained ⅛. Distillers Seagrams held unchanged.

Heavy Allocations To Britain Continue

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29.—(CP)—The United Kingdom was allocated 900,000 bushels of wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

On coarse grains futures, Winnipeg oats showed a firm trend on buying attributed to American houses and shippers. Offerings were fairly liberal but well absorbed.

Barley showed some irregularity following early buying by shippers and American interests. Increased hedging sales brought an easier tone. Barley rallied in the later stages.

Rye came in for some commission house buying and occasional buying attributed to American houses.

Few trades appeared in flax.

Easterner Sees Great Future Here

"The eyes of the east are on Edmonton." So declared Roy C. Crabtree, eastern Canadian businessman, in Edmonton today.

Crabtree, vice-president in charge of operations of Wood's Manufacturing Company, Ottawa, who is making his first visit to the city, is here to confer with A. W. Bletcher, Alberta representative of the company.

"Business circles throughout eastern Canada and United States are focussing considerable attention on Edmonton," said Crabtree.

"They see it as one of the great business centres of the west. The oil fields at nearby Leduc and Redwater, the city's geographical position at the crossroads of the world and gateway to the north, and the steady increase in the volume of business done here by all manufacturers, being the chief factors for this great interest in the Alberta capital," he added.

The easterner said he'd heard so much about Edmonton during the past two years that he "just had to come out and see what everyone was raving about."

GREATER REPORTS

"We heard a great deal about Edmonton during the war, and its connection with the building of the famed Alaska highway, but this past while, much greater reports have been received about your city," he said.

Crabtree also spoke very highly of Edmonton's friendliness and hospitality.

"The treatment accorded a stranger in Edmonton is simply remarkable. Everyone I've come in contact with, from the moment I arrived here, has been most courteous and have really made me feel at home. The local businessmen take great pains to explain our every question about the city and point out all its nublights with extreme pride," he added.

He was also full of praise for the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce "Friendship Train" presently touring the Peace River country and the northland.

TYPICAL OF CITY

"It's typical of the spirit of Edmonton," he declared, "and an excellent business gesture. The trip will do much to add further interest and future development in this north country. It's interesting to note the farsightedness of the Edmonton business people. They are not only doing a most noble job of publicizing their own city, but they are creating a greater interest in the surrounding countryside. It's little wonder that the eyes of the east are on Edmonton and there is good reason in my mind why eastern businessmen are focussing so much interest on this thriving, progressive and friendly city which is sure to become one of the great business centres of the west," he concluded.

Gyros Hear Health Plan Advantages

Principles of a prepaid health program being considered by an association of Alberta physicians was advanced to members of the Edmonton Gyro Club at their meeting in the Macdonald Hotel Tuesday.

Speaker was Dr. W. Bramley-Moore, registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He expressed the belief that the public preferred a system of service in which the patient and the practitioner were the administrators, and in which the patient had free dom to choose his own practitioner who would be paid on the basis of services rendered.

He, Bramley-Moore also outlined present services as being contemplated and practiced by the Dominion government and the various provincial governments.

He told the club members of the work of the World Health organization, a branch of the United Nations, and said it was planned to eradicate malaria and venereal diseases in ten years.

This, he said, would save the lives of millions of people yearly and would present a challenge to world agriculturists and industrialists to provide food and employment.

Gyro members were advised that the Calgary Gyro Club was again winner of the Vair Anderson trophy for the annual golf competition held at Red Deer. Thirty Edmonton Gyros participated in this year's tourney, held last Sunday.

Club president Wes Van Dusen presided.

City Realtor Sees Britons Talking of Russian War

Most people in Britain think war with Soviet Russia will come "sooner or later," Jack Milne, Edmonton real estate dealer, said today.

Mr. Milne and his wife have just returned from a visit of 2½ months to the British Isles. He is a member of the firm of Milne and Whillaw, real estate insurance and investment brokers.

BETTER NOW

"One hears considerable talk of war with Russia sooner or later," Mr. Milne said. "The attitude seems to be that if we must fight Russia it would probably be better to fight before Russia becomes better organized industrially."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Milne made the trip overseas for the main purpose of visiting their mothers who live in Elgin, Morayshire, Scotland.

It was Mr. Milne's first visit home in 13 years.

While in Britain he also visited London and elsewhere in England.

Austerity still plagues and annoys the British people, the Edmonton businessman said.

STRICT RATIONS

There are lots of potatoes, fish and black bread and the occasional chicken. Most other foods are strictly rationed and one never sees white bread.

Private motorists are allowed only three gallons of gasoline a month but there is a flourishing black market in petrol as in many other rationed products, Milne said.

Black market gasoline costs $1 a gallon.

People are generally "pretty fed up" with the restrictions and controls, and many would like to move to Canada but stringent regulations covering transfer of funds to other countries prevent emigration of middle class and workers, he said.

Although the Labor Government is losing some support Mr. Milne thinks an election at this time would see it returned to power due to the still solid support of trade unionists and workers generally.

Arsenault Back With Tales Of Bug War

Ulric "Spud" Arsenault, famed northland prospector and trapper, who hit a $250,000 gold mine jackpot at Yellowknife two years ago, is in the news again.

This time Spud comes up not with a gold mine but with a new technique in fighting the mosquito

"I trap 'em and kill 'em at leisure," explained "Spud".

He has just returned from a healthful summer in the Jasper Park area, where he slept every night in a tent, sawed wood and swam in the cool mountain streams.

Always the prospector he had his eye peeled for signs of gold and other minerals.

ENTHUSIASTIC

"Spud" may or may not be on the trail of another big gold find. He's too smart to tell about that but he was most enthusiastic about his utter triumph over that pest of pests the Alberta mosquito.

"I lured 'em into my tent each night," he explained. I left the flap on the tent open until the place was just humming with savage buzzers. Then I sneaked over and dropped the tent flap.

"Next I went to work with my filt gun and the slaughter was really terrific," Spud explained.

Thorough about everything he does, "Spud" carefully counted his "bag."

He killed 376 the first night. At the end of the second day the filt gun had run the mosquito casualty list up to 758.

If anyone doubts the efficacy of "Spud's" one-man mosquito abatement campaign he can produce all the insect corpus delecti. He counted every victim and placed them all in a sealer.

"Spud" sold rich gold mining claims in the Yellowknife district for $100,000 cash and $150,000 in mining stock, two years ago.

Featuring a plan to increase attendance at future meetings, the Glenora Home and School Association held its first fall meeting Monday night at the home of Frank J. Newson, 98 St. George's Crescent.

Meeting concluded with the serving of an executive luncheon by Mrs. F. J. Newson.

No Elimination Seen For Racial Barriers

Professor Asks Teachers To Minimize Prejudice

Hope of completely eliminating racial prejudices is "futile and silly", B. E. Walker, M.A., told Northern Alberta teachers at their inter-local convention in Edmonton Tuesday.

Mr. Walker is assistant professor of Education, University of Alberta. His address was heard in the teachers' closing session of their two day convention at the Masonic Temple.

NO MONOPOLY

He urged teachers to minimize racial prejudice in their sphere of teaching, but to remember that no one culture has a monopoly on the best things in life.

"I suggest that it is futile and silly to speak of entirely eliminating racial prejudice for generations to come Canada will have its English-speaking and French-speaking groups," he said.

Classrooms and playgrounds present the greatest opportunity for an exchange of the various cultures of each race, the professor said.

"Many pupils in your class rooms are on the verge of mental illnesses or will develop them in later life," W. E. Frame, MA, chief superintendent of schools, warned teachers.

ONE IN TEN

He said surveys showed one of every 10 children now in Canadian classrooms will be stricken with mental illness some time in his life.

Teachers should take full advantage of their "wonderful opportunity" to direct youngsters towards a happy, mentally-stable life, he said.

"That should be your real concern in formulating the development of children under your supervision."

Private 'Eye' On Trial For Perjury

The preliminary hearing of an Edmonton private detective arraigned Tuesday for perjury will be continued in police court today.

Charles J. Griffith, 9937 115 street, is charged with perjury arising out of evidence given in a divorce case heard in Alberta's Supreme Court, November, 1947.

It is alleged that Griffith gave false testimony then in the case of Pearl May Hunter versus John Edward Hunter.

Application for divorce filed by Pearl May Hunter, formerly of Kent, England, was thrown out when the court doubted the credibility of evidence given by Griffith.

Morinville Sued As Flood Sequel

A claim for damages totalling $1,350 against the town of Morinville has been filed in the Alberta Supreme Court in Edmonton by two district farmers.

The farmers, Theophiel and Germaine Hemschoot, who operate more than a section of land immediately north of Morinville, claim to have suffered the damage as a result of flood waters over their property last April 19.

It is claimed the town of Morinville cut an embankment and installed two culverts in the highway causing flooding and erosion of the farm land, resulting in the destruction of a three-acre crop of fall rye valued at $200 and made it impossible to plant 70 acres of wheat valued at $2,400 and 70 acres of oats valued at $1,750.

An injunction is also being sought against the town of Morinville, restraining it from diverting flood waters over the farm land.

The law firm of Morrow and Morrow is acting for the plaintiff.

Manning Has Praise For Credit Unions

Co-operation, good will and fellowship in credit unions were lauded by Premier Ernest Manning Tuesday.

Mr. Manning was addressing the Edmonton Civil Service and Credit Union on the occasion of its 10th anniversary. Anniversary was observed in the legislative restaurant.

"Good will and fellowship cultivated have paid dividends in dollarz and cents," he said.

"The success of the union in the past as well as the future depends on the vigorous support and enthusiasm of the members," the Premier added.

Other speakers of the evening included Dr. J. L. Robinson, minister of industry and labor, and D. Oberholtzer, deputy minister of trade and industry.

ONLY MEMBER

Dr. Robinson, who is the only member of the cabinet in the union, said one of the chief contributions of the union is in helping to overcome the tendency of people to buy beyond their means. He stressed that a good preliminary study group is a necessary factor in the establishment of a new Credit Union.

Since its inception, the Credit Union has made loans to the total amount of $697,235.27, comprising 1,827 individual loans, Secretary-Treasurer Alfred Peart said in reviewing the progress of the Union.

Today in the 10th anniversary the share account balance is $44,293.15 and a total loan account balance of $52,828.88 made up of over 200 loan accounts.

A feature is the number of accounts opened by members on behalf of children, and to which in many cases, family allowance cheques find their way month after month, Peart said.

Poll Clerks Needed For Civic Election

Poll clerks and deputy returning officers are wanted for Edmonton's Civic election to be held Nov. 2.

Returning officer George S. Docherty said Tuesday the services of approximately 400 persons will be needed to fill the offices at the city's polls on election day.

A number of applications have already been received, but many more are still needed, according to the returning officer, and those wishing to help should make application to Mr. Docherty in the Civic Block.

Candidates' nomination forms have already been taken out by two prospective candidates in next November's election, Mrs. Julia Kiniski and F. J. Speed.

Mrs. Kiniski was an unsuccessful candidate for an aldermanic seat last year, while Mr. Speed was defeated in the municipal and public school board elections.

Embargo Iron Curtain May Be Lifted Bit

By Bea Thrifty

Dear Mr. Abbott. Bless his kind little heart. He, too, remembers the barren winter days of yesteryear, days when we suffered along without tomatoes, lettuce and even cabbage.

So guess what! With a wave of his pudgy little finger, he may lift the teeniest, weeniest corner of that nasty old embargo and let us have our tomatoes, lettuce and cabbage from the U.S.

And what a relief. Another winter of no salads—this girl couldn't take.

In the meantime we'll keep our fingers crossed.

Onions, peppers, pimento, tomatoes, cauliflower, cucumbers . . . they're dwindling rapidly.

If you want to do any more pickling, hurry, hurry, hurry. As a matter of fact the cukes are practically gone now.

This week and next will see the peak of fall preserving fruit supplies. Prune plums, crabapples, peaches will continue in volume for the next ten days . . . but after that . . . a definite tightening.

Pears, in all winter varieties will continue on the markets for some time, as will Concord grapes.

The authentic Concord grapes from Ontario will arrive and be presented to the consumer on or about Oct. 4.

* * *

Macintosh apples, red, sweet, juicy, wonderful for eating raw, terrific for pies and simply out of this world for apple dumplings.

And you can buy them now . . . at fairly reasonable prices.

I hate to see that summer sun go down, but I love autumn for a number of reasons, one of them . . . those good, good apples.

Sweet potatoes, yum, yum . . . yams!

They're good and good for you. According to people in the know . . . they're more nutritious than the ordinary white potato.

At the moment, wholesalers are having a bit of difficulty wringing them in. But I'm a crafty fox. I've seen an odd little bunch of the Sunday-go-to-meeting potatoes, hither, thither and yon.

As a matter of fact, before the sweet potato season gets into full swing, here are a few gems of warning advice about their care:

Remember they don't keep long in the home pantry, so buy them in small lots and use them properly. Then put a dry storage place with a temperature around 55 or 60 degrees.

Like bananas, sweet potatoes don't belong in the frig.

Add one cup water to one tin tomato juice, two or three cloves, small onion, finely minced, ½ teaspoon celery salt. Blend cooking ingredients and simmer gently for ten minutes . . . Serve red hot with cheese straws, or tiny toast squares.

Reading, music and hobbies are very worthwhile for the woman who wants a joyful life. Such things will keep her from worrying about age and probably keep her as lovely as Actress Rita Hayworth, above.

WHY GROW OLD

Hobbies Worthwhile; Add Joy to Existence

By Josephine Lowman

A woman's trip from birth to the grave is one of varied experience, some general patterns and many inconsistencies.

From the time she is born until she reaches her 20's she wants terribly to grow up, to be older and may even add a year or so to her age.

This is especially true around her early teen birthdays. Then when she reaches the age of 30 she begins taking years off her true age. How much more fun she would have if she forgot age and enjoyed to the fullest each stage of life, rather than reaching forward or back.

Psychologically is very young she will do anything to get attention, even if it means throwing a tantrum. This is one characteristic which follows her all through life. At middle age she may pretend that she is indifferent to attention but usually demands it again in old age.

Psychologists tell us that food is the most important thing in the life of a child up to the age of ten. Unfortunately this avid interest in food often lasts into middle age, with a lessening of health and a build up in pounds.

In early years a woman is interested in getting a husband, in maturity in keeping him, and in age she either feels sure of him or it doesn't matter much any way. The best woman is the one who still cares and who also feels sure of her man.

The road from youth to age can be a vital, fascinating one if we guard against the dangers of inertia, overweight, fatigue, boredom and indifference.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Husbands Often Loaf When Wife Keeps Job

Whether more husbands are getting to be tightwads or whether wives are more resentful at being unpaid slaves than they used to be, deponent sayeth not, but certain it is that the money question is becoming a burning issue in many homes and is paving a hot road to the divorce court.

Probably bridegrooms always had their tongues in their cheeks when they swore at the altar to endow their brides with all their worldly goods.

Maybe they didn't expect their wives to take them seriously, but, anyway, it is a curious fact that the emancipation of women has ironically enough resulted in the emancipation of men, multitudes of whom seem to feel that they have no responsibilities whatever for the support of their families.

Naturally there was great rejoicing when the doors of opportunity were opened to women and they began to get paid for their work and had money of their own in their pockets, but their publication has been short lived, for they have found out that the working wife is all that the term implies.

The optimistic bride has discovered that a job and the bridge that would carry her over from the schoolroom to the altar, as she expected,

It is a treadmill from which she rarely escapes, and instead of her being able to give up her job when she married she has had to add to her work a lot of additional chores, such as doing the marketing, the laundering, the cooking, etc., to say nothing of baby-tending.

Of course, occasionally, there is a domestic-minded man who lends a helping hand with the cooking and the dish-washing, but these are rare birds who are found oftener in museums than in kitchens. The average man's theory about the division of labor in the home is "let Georgina do it."

We do not think of fortune hunting being a popular avocation with American men, but thousands of Weary Willies give up their jobs just as soon as they have married girls who draw down good salaries, and thereafter they spend their lives in pool rooms and on golf links and in having little affairs with girls who don't look so tired as working wives do.

My mail is hot with the letters from the wives who tell me that although their husbands command good salaries, they refuse to pay any of the household bills.

Many of these setouts compel their wives to turn over their salaries to them, and the wives never get a penny of the money they have earned.

Often a woman will write that she hasn't had a new dress in years. She wears the cast-off clothes of her sisters.

Nothing could be more pitiful than the lot of these working wives who thought they were going to be their husbands helpmates, but find that they are nothing but their slaves; who toil in a factory or an office and then come to wash and cook and clean, while a lazy hound takes it easy, and a stingy one rubs her of even her earfare and threatens to take her children away from her if she even tries to make a break for freedom.

A mean, stingy husband is the most contemptible creature on earth, but let us thank God that he is still in the minority and that the great majority of husbands are good and kind and generous and the answer to every woman's prayer.

Smart Strategy Sets This Hand

By William E. McKenney

One of the things that we all enjoy in a bridge game is the strategy in planning that goes into it. Today's hand was played some time ago with Gen. Robert J. Gill, of Baltimore, Md. The strategy employed by the declarer was very clever, but the general, who handled German war prisoners during the war and later was assistant to the U.S. Chief Justice at the Nurnberg trials, is familiar with strategy himself. His attack in this hand was well timed.

Declarer won the opening lead of the spade deuce in dummy with the ace and immediately took three rounds of trumps. Now the question was, did the general have a six or seven card club suit? If he had a six card club suit and three diamonds (South was quite certain that the opening lead of the deuce of spades was a singleton), it did not look as if declarer had any chance to make the contract. If he could find the general with a seven card club suit and just the king and one diamond, he could see a way to make the hand.

At this point declarer cashed the ace of clubs, then the ace of diamonds. He was hoping that the general would have to win the second diamond with the king. He could cash a high club, but he would have nothing but clubs left and would have to lead one which declarer could trump in dummy and discard a loser from his own hand. Thus South would lose only two diamonds and a club.

However, the general was on his spade trick.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Wise to Condition Baby to Noises

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

All babies hiccup some of the time. They seem to be placidly unconcerned about it and it shouldn't bother the mother much more.

The moment food goes into the stomach it is attacked by digestive juices which begin to reduce it to a fluid so that it may leave the stomach in rhythmical waves.

Babies spit up very easily. Some of this avid fluid coming up in the throat may be irritating enough to cause the baby to hiccup. The simplest remedy is to give baby a generous drink of water.

Mothers notice that the baby jumps, with hands flying above the head and cries, trembling immediately they label him as nervous.

Babies are startled enormously by loud sounds. This is a fear reaction and even the newborn shows it. He won't continue to react this way once he has become accustomed to the ordinary noises of the household.

It's smart to spare him the fear engendered by loud noises. This does not mean that parents have to go tiptoeing around the room and talking in hushed voices when the baby is asleep.

Also, it doesn't mean that you should try to make him immune to loud sounds by treating him to the noise of a turned up radio, or to door banging, dishes rattling, shrill doorbells or phones.

These are not only kind ways of acting toward the baby, but they prevent him from attaching unpleasant incidents such as bathing and eating, the fear reactions he gets from noise and fright experiences.

Our leaflet No. 60, "Common Fears of Childhood," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Bulletin.

Fluctuating Styles Forecast at Show

Stereotyped 'College Girl Sloppy Joes' Fall Into Fashion's 'Old Look' Class

It seems that styles are no longer stereotyped.

That's apparent from the fashions shown at the Masonic Temple Wednesday afternoon. The show, sponsored by Edmonton House Chapter, IODE, will be repeated at 8 p.m.

College girls are no longer distinguishable by their sloppy sweaters and other scathing campus togs. In clothes from Fashion Dress Shoppe, the young models looked youthful but definitely smart.

Hems are 12 inches from the floor. Shoulders are softly rounded. Suit skirts are still straight but in dressy clothes, they're softly draped with interest focussing on the back where fullness gathers and bows predominate.

Tweeds are still important but they're of finer weave and more flattering. Men's wear wool is still the thing for school or office.

Evening wear is more glamorous than ever with taffeta getting the vote for most popular material.

From Bricker's Children's Wear came the kiddies' clothes—among them two tartan house coats—one in green and one in red. They were worn with Doctor Dentons by Lynne and Harold Sutton—perfect answers for chilly winter nights.

Five-year-old Lynne was a picture in a two-piece tartan suit with boxy styled jacket with patch pockets and wide lapels.

A deep turquoise wintej coat and leggings was worn by Vicki Bredehoft. It featured a full swing back and gray mouton collar, the fur repeated on the matching bonnet.

Afternoon dresses aren't only for mama. A gray model in English wool crepe was worn on three-year-old Lawrene Collins. It was styled with a Peter Pan collar, puffed sleeves and a bow at the back. Trimming in red, white and blue added to the interest.

One outfit to appeal to practical mothers was a pair of Zippees, sanforized shrunk overalls. They zip up—adjustable straps and no buttons.

Wind and water repellent ski suits were in one piece and lined gabardine bottoms and woolen plaid tops.

Speaking of plaid, one teen-age favorite should be the black and white plaid shirt with zipper fly front worn by Marlene Shultz.

A straight-up-and-down plaid skirt worn by Pat Gunn featured big flap pockets and a zipper up the back. Interesting feature was the elastic around the waist to keep the blouse tucked in.

Apple green wool jersey was worn by Helen Tanner. A Peter Pan collar and buttons down the bodice front kept the dress young while sophistication was added with the partial peplum.

A gray Cohama frostpoint casual worn by Barbara Splitstead featured a high neck with little collar, three-quarter cuffed sleeves and a skirt with two unpressed pleats in the front. This was doubly smart with green belt and accessories.

Suits are always in style and those worn in the show ran the gamut of colors—raspberry wine worn by Joan Seiler with navy accessories; honey beige worn by Kay Kendrick with chocolate brown accessories; birdseye sharkskin worn by Kay Seiler.

Green comes in many shades and is a favorite in coats. Bernice Stenton modelled a hunter's green gabardine coat flaring from a V in the back. Dona Black wore a bright green wool and Joan Hudson showed another green coat with full back, this one featuring a leopard skin lining.

Cocktail suit of black with black bead trim was chosen by Lois Nichols. The trim on pocket flaps was repeated in bows on either side of the high collar.

Audrey Crick's cocktail dress of black lace over yellow silk was another style with short sleeves, square neckline and full, flaring skirt.

Favorite of the formals was the yellow brocade worn by Bernice Stenton. It was strapless and featured a large bow at the back of the extremely full skirt.

Shoulders are showing this year and no exceptions to the rule were Barbara Splitsted in pink taffeta off-the-shoulder model and Helen Tanner in black taffeta strapless with gold trim at the top of the bodice and three horizontal plaid panels on the full skirt.

Hats were from Darling Hat Shop. Mary featured velvet trim, satin or feathers. Many were tied under the chin with the veil.

Old-Timer Is Visiting Family

Interested in the many changes which have taken place in Edmonton since his last visit here 16 years ago is a 85-year-old visitor from Calgary, Arthur Buckingham.

Accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. J. Tucker, of Calgary, Mr. Buckingham has been the guest of another daughter, Mrs. A. H. Scollan, 11348 91 Ave., for the past week.

Born in London, England, one of a family of nine children, Mr. Buckingham lived in that city until 1906, when, at the age of 33, he moved to Canada with his wife and family. After living in Winnipeg for four years, the Buckingham settled in Calgary.

Since the death of his wife in 1918, and his retirement from the plumbing business, Mr. Buckingham has lived with his son, in the Parkhill district of Calgary.

Still in good health, in spite of having lost a leg while serving with the London fire brigade in 1898, Mr. Buckingham enjoys visiting with his four daughters, two sons, 16 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

A keen reader, Mr. Buckingham keeps in touch with current affairs and goes out frequently to card parties.

He is greatly interested in the development of the province which he adopted as his home, and contrasts the present size of Edmonton and Calgary, with the small towns they were when he first saw them.

Jack Cormack Speaks To Catholic Women

Christian Education was the subject of a talk by Jack Cormack to a recent meeting of the Margaret Duggan Subdivision of Catholic Women's League.

Mr. Cormack stressed the fact that character, the greatest of virtues, should be understood by every child and that it should be applied to every phase of living. He mentioned the problems confronting parents and teachers.

An agenda for the year was drawn up by members.

Miss Margaret Perry presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Rita Coughlin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. S. Moher, Miss Helena Maher and Miss H. Doherty.

PROFUSION OF BLOSSOMS banked the altar of St. Alphonsus Church recently for the wedding of Clare Violet May Snow and Albert Joseph Octave Lachance. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. Snow, Amisk. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lachance, Lindale.

Ross Burns was best man and the ushers were Doug Burns and Murray Rose.

Herbert Wild, organist, and Tony Biamonte, soloist, provided the wedding music.

At a reception following the ceremony at the Trocadero the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom assisted the bride couple in receiving.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Burns chose a dress of turquoise blue crepe, with black and gold accessories, and a corsage of golden pink roses.

Mrs. Rose wore a taupe wool suit complemented by brown accessories and a corsage of deep red roses.

Bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake banked in tulle, and flower arrangements of gladioli, pastel asters and sweet pea.

W. W. Henderson proposed the toast to the bride.

Presiding at the coffee urns were Mrs. W. W. Cross and Mrs. Louis Scott.

Piano and violin selections played by Norma and Jack Fowler provided a musical background at the reception.

For her wedding trip to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, the bride wore a leaf green gabardine suit, grey accessories and matching topcoat. Her corsage was of red roses.

Betty Glauser Bride In Recent Ceremony

Chrysanthemums and fern decorated Erskine United Church Saturday at 7 p.m. when Rev. R. F. Hinchey united in marriage Betty Alice Glauser and Robert Alfred Lane.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Glauser and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Lane, all of Edmonton.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was gowned in white satin, her dress fashioned with a silk net yoke and wide shoulder cape which she dropped shoulder. Tiny, self-covered buttons were used down to the waist on the front of the bodice. Her full skirt terminated in a train.

The train-length veil of embroidered net was gathered to her head with a headdress of sweetheart roses. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Edith Geddes was matron-of-honor. She wore turquoise blue, her gown styled with a high neckline with silver bead trim, long sleeves and a straight skirt. She carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and wore a headdress of sweetheart roses.

Sam Henderson was best man and ushers were Rene Glauser, brother of the bride, and Donald Ball, cousin of the bridegroom.

Wedding music was played by J. A. White and soloist was Barbara Newham who sang Because during the signing of the register.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the drawing room of the Macdonald hotel where the bride's table was decorated with a three-tier cake surrounded by gladioli, white tapers and bouquets of pink carnations and white baby chrysanthemums.

Receiving the guests, Mrs. Glauser was in a two-piece black dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Lake chose for her son's wedding a navy blue ensemble with which she wore a corsage of yellow roses and white baby chrysanthemums.

Pouring coffee were Mrs. Walter Glauser and Mrs. Ernest Ryts.

The couple left later by car for Banff where they will spend a short honeymoon before taking up residence in the city.

For travelling, the bride wore an olive green gabardine suit with beige topcoat and accessories in dark brown.

Modelling, Sculpture Discussed at Meeting

Bringing the principles of sculpture into the home was stressed by Mrs. Ella Jacoby Walker, in her talk at the opening meeting of the Edmonton Branch, Canadian Handicrafts Guild, Tuesday.

Choosing for her topic, "Modelling and Sculpture in Relation to Home Handicrafts," Mrs. Walker said that sculpture is not as formidable an art as is generally believed.

Mrs. Walker advised amateur artists that the prime requisite for a successful work of art was the choice of a subject which interested them vitally.

She discussed briefly different mediums of sculpture, such as Marble, stone, and clay, and explained how objects modelled in clay may be finished by firing or casting.

Examples of Mrs. Walker's own work and that of her pupils highlighted her discussion of the various forms of sculpture and illustrated her point that sculpture can be functional as well as decorative.

Preceding Mrs. Walker's lecture was a brief business meeting. Mrs. A. W. Douglas, president, welcomed new members and reviewed for them the objects of the Guild.

Annual tea and exhibition of handicrafts will be held in the Senate Chambers, University of Alberta November 19 and 20, it was announced.

Reports on the progress of their classes were given by craft instructors.

Miss Patchell Recent Bride

First Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Marguerite Shirley Patchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Patchell, of Broadacres, Sask., became the bride of Ian Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Noble, of Edmonton.

Rev. J. Gordon Troyer performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a wedding suit of gull grey, with black accessories and a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her corsage was of gardenias and Sweetheart roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Doris Zaleski, who wore a brown suit, complemented by brown and rust accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Wedding music was played by Mr Newcombe.

Thirty guests attended a reception at the Cottage Tea Room following the ceremony. Receiving with the bridal couple were the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom.

Mrs. Patchell was gowned in turquoise blue wool, with brown accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Noble wore a dress of navy blue, with a maroon hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Pink and white streamers and bouquets of carnations adorned the bride's table, which was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Burton Inkster.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble left for a wedding trip to Calgary and later will make their home in Edmonton.

Goering Believed Hitler Great Man

Stuck to Fuehrer Despite Own Falling Out With Him

Werner Bross, counsel for Goering at the Nuremburg trial, who took down at the Reichmarshal's dictation the final opinions of a man who knew he was facing death, today reveals in Goering's own words that defeat, disaster, and a personal falling out with Hitler did not shake his faith in Nazism and its leader.—EDITOR.

'Hitler Lived Too Long'

To the day of his death, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering believed firmly that Hitler had been one of the greatest men in history and that fundamentally his principles had been right.

He believed it in spite of the fact that the ruins of Hitler's Third Reich had crashed down upon his own head; in spite of his own loss of influence during the last three years of the Nazi regime; in spite of his criticism of Hitler's interference in his own Luftwaffe; in spite of the last-minute events which caused Hitler to depose Goering as his political heir and brought about the Marshal's arrest at Berchtesgaden. And he was bitter when his co-defendants denied their leader and his theories in the attempt to save their skins at the Nuremburg trial.

"I could have brought up many things against Hitler myself, after he had sentenced me and my family to death just because he had received a falsified radio message, without listening to my story," Goering told me one day, after he had been criticizing the attitude of his fellows in the dock.

"I could have talked of the serious differences which darkened our relations for years and could very often have led to a complete break. But these fellows" — that was the way he referred to the prosecution — "have never succeeded in getting me to say a single word against Hitler.

"When Maxwell Fyfe asked whether I still wanted to glorify National Socialism after all the revelations that had been made, I answered: 'I am not here to glorify anything, but to keep my oath, That is the right thing to do in difficult times.'

PROUD OF ANSWER

It was clear that he was proud of this answer not because it replied to the prosecution lawyer, but because it was a biting reproach to his weaker colleagues, for he added at once:

If Hitler was sitting in the dock with us, I should like to see if the defendants would have dared to say in his presence some of the words they pronunce so readily now!"

For the No. 2 Nazi, history was the creation of great men and Hitler was one of the greatest. One day I put to him the view that the great changes which occur during the processes of economic and cultural evolution cannot be ascribed to the influence of individuals. He disagreed strongly.

"The real material for history," he said, "is made up of great men and their deeds Men like Cromwell, Charles XII of Sweden, Napoleon, Bismarck—Hitler. One hundred years from now Hitler will be judged from the point of view of having been a great motivating force of European life.

PEOPLE TOO HORRIFIED'

"You are still young. You will see that the developments of the next few decades will prove that Hitler was right. Today people are horrified because of his methods, intended to achieve long-range objectives far off in the future, were criminal. How does the world regard Genghis Khan today? No longer as a wild barbarian, an enemy of Christianity, but as the genius who founded the states of Central Asia."

Goering was also at odds with the generals who to offer complained at the interference of Hitler in their affairs. It is true that the Reichmarshal had been critical of Hitler's demands on his own department, the air force, but he did not agree when the generals reacted in the same fashion.

For instance, Goering said that it was Hitler who insisted on adapting the 88-millimetre anti-aircraft gun to the Tiger tanks, which the military experts said was quite impossible. Yet that armament caused the Allies plenty of trouble in the North African campaigns.

He maintained also that the failure of the Germans to take Moscow would not have occurred if the generals had followed Hitler's plan of attack, which Goering described as "brilliant". Finally, the Battle of the Bulge, which for a time threatened to deal a heavy blow to the advancing Allied armies, was due to Hitler's direction.

'LAST BRILLIANT IDEA'

"That offensive of Ardennes," Goering said of it, "might have changed the fortunes of war and made possible a compromise peace. That was Hitler's last really brilliant idea. But he shouldn't have placed the decisive aggressive power of six Panzer divisions in the hands of Sepp Dietrich, a former non-commissioned officer. (Goering was apparently unaware in this criticism that Hitler also was a former non-commissioned officer, a corporal—Editor).

At that time most of the 65 Allied divisions was tied down on the other sectors of the front and Eisenhower had only seven operational divisions at his disposal. Of the 63 German divisions in the West, 36 faced the Allies and were available for free action.

"A successful push to Antwerp and the capture of that city would have put the German armor at the rear of the enemy and led to the collapse of the whole Western front. Only near Paris was there a single enemy division in reserve ready to fight."

But the Panzer divisions failed to get ahead. Without artillery support, my two paratroop divisions were destroyed far ahead of the Panzers, and after five days of fog which had hampered the enemy air fleets, fine weather returned and the overwhelming superiority of the enemy air force was again applied. If the breakthrough had already been achieved by this time, then the opposing armies would have been at such close range that Allied air superiority couldn't have much effect.

ALLIES KNEW DANGER

"The tremendous danger of this German offensive was best known to the enemy himself. Do you know that Keitel, (Field Marshal Wilhelm von Keitel.—Ed.) Jodl (Col Gen. Gustav Jodl, German chief of staff.—Ed.) and myself were questioned for a whole month about the Ardennes offensive alone?"

Hitler's success as a strategist, Goering believed, was due partly to his prodigious memory for detail.

"Once he pointed out to me the difficulties which the Richthofen Squadron"—to which Goering had belonged in World War I—experienced in adapting engines to a new plane. I didn't even know of it myself!

"On another occasion we needed some cheap cannon for experimental purposes. The Fuehrer said, 'Haven't we four old mortars somewhere, left over from the last war?' No one knew anything about them, but when an investigation was made, he proved to be right.

"He carried in his head the details of armaments, armor, speed and draft of practically every important warship in the world. Ask him for the figures on, say, a Brazilian cruiser, and he could provide them at a moment's notice.

'WORKED LIKE HORSE'

"From the time the war began," Goering told me, "the Fuehrer worked like a horse. He stopped going to concerts, operas, public performances. He even gave up the movies, though in the past he had been accustomed to having every important picture shown in his private theatre. He did make it a point never to miss the news reels.

"All his time was spent in military and political discussions. He read a lot—read and brooded. He kept strategic and statistical works piled on a table at his bedside. He had a special gift for statistics He could read over complicated technical data and remember page after page of it without a mistake."

Yes, for Goering, Hitler remained the Fuehrer, the master, the man to be admired and to be followed even after his death at the end of the disastrous war into which he had led his countrymen.

Goering went to his grave without recanting his faith to his leader. He conceded only that under the strain of his great efforts, Hitler's powers had weakened towards the end.

In view of Goering's belief in the military genius of Hitler, it is surprising that he placed the peak of his achievement before the war. He thought, in fact, that Hitler had lived a little too long. For he said to me once:

"I am of the opinion today that it might perhaps have been best if the Fuehrer had died in an auto accident after the Munich conference. Then he would really have been remembered as one of the greatest men in the history of Germany."

(TOMORROW: Goering predicts new war with Russia).

Woman Kidnaps, Then Abandons Young Boy

CARDIFF, Wales, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Mrs. Hilda Edith Gustek, 24, will be taken in custody to Plymouth to face charges in connection with the disappearance and abandonment of a five-year-old boy more than three years ago.

The curly-headed youngster was adopted last February by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ballard of Oxford after he was found in London's Chinatown district.

Mrs. Ruth Buller, the boy's mother, said he was kidnapped from their Plymouth home 3½ years ago.

Monday, Mrs. Gustek walked into a Cardiff police station and said she was "Stella Costello" wanted by police since the boy disappeared when he was eight months old.

Mrs. Buller had said that she permitted a woman of that name, whom she knew only slightly, to take the boy for a walk. That was the last time she saw her son.

Mrs. Gustek said she had read about the case and wanted to "get it over with." She added she did not want her husband, a trawler fisherman at Swansea, to know about it.

Plymouth police travelled to Cardiff with a 3½-year-old warrant for her arrest.

Mrs. Buller, who saw the child in Oxford Monday, returned home yesterday without her son. "After the hardest decision a mother ever had to make," she agreed to leave him a his foster home.

She said: "I may be able to become sort of an 'Aunty' to him."

Educators Pushing Teacher Exchanging

WINNIPEG, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Canadian education is facing the "inadequacy of its teaching force," A. R. Lord, president of the Canadian Education Association told the Association convention here yesterday. He called for an accelerated exchange system for teachers.

Mr. Lord said a committee charged with the problem of a teacher scarcity had completed the "very onerous first step toward the solution."

Through increased financial contributions from the provincial governments and by discussing common problems, the association had been able to promote co-operation while "guarding the important principle of provincial control of administration and policy in education."

He criticized the Canadian government's refusal to follow the lead of the United States which, he said, granted income tax reductions to exchange teachers.

Federal aid should be provided for education as for other social services, declared Creswell Oates of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Teachers' Association.

"Today the public expects more and more from the schools. Rightly so, but the cost must increase with the service As in industry the output and quality can only rise as the plant improves. The same is true in education. Local efforts, coupled with provincial aid, must be given a hand by the federal government."

COURTHOUSE NO SPOT FOR PARTY

CALGARY, Sept. 29.—(CP)—Lawrence Beaudreau of Calgary picked the wrong spot for a party yesterday—the Supreme Court. A witness in a case scheduled to be heard Tuesday Beaudreau arrived at the courthouse and promptly locked himself in the witness room with two companions. Police said the party became so noisy, Beaudreau and his companions were removed from the building. A few minutes later he was arrested. The charge—drunk and disorderly.

950 Easterners Assist Harvest

Alberta farmers are being assisted by 950 Eastern Canadians, brought to this province under Dominion-provincial farm labor committee leadership.

R. M. Putman of the Alberta branch of the farm-labor board said today the number brough to the province exceeded preliminary estimates of requirements by 200.

At the opening of the season, he said, requirements were calculated at 750.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW— By Fagaly and Shorten

12-Year-Old Boy Injured In Blast

In hospital today at Grande Prairie, suffering from a burned face and slight injury to one eye, is 12-year-old David Hartley, who was injured Saturday when a parachute flare he was playing with exploded in his face.

Young Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hartley, had found the flare at the barracks ground after he had his nose practically torn from his face, after a cartridge he was pounding with a hammer exploded.

It is believed the boy struck the partially-exploded flare with a hammer, thinking it to be already exploded.

If no complications set in, it is expected that his eyesight will be saved.

Accident occurred just three days before the Hartley family had planned to move permanently to Vancouver.

On Friday a similar accident case was reported in Grande Prairie when five-year-old Larry Cavett had his nose practically torn from his face, after a cartridge he was pounding with a hammer exploded.
